Anti Saloon League Plans Dry Educational Campaign

PLANS MOVE TO OFFSET WET ACTION

F. Scott McBride, Head of Organization Declares Business Leaders Aid COMMITTEE IS NAMED

Fillmore Condit of Long Beach Member of Group That Will Launch Move

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Supporters of prohibition, stirred into activity by internal criticism and the sharp-shooting of wet forces, have undertaken a counter offensive described by the Anti-Saloon league as a "revival of a more militant attitude on the part of the dries."

F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, declared in an announcement for publication today that "every possible step must be taken to prevent this nation slipping backward on the great moral issue of temperance."

As predicted in United Press dispatches earlier in the month, the new drive is educational in character and is interested in rallying industrial and business leaders to the prohibition cause.

"It is proposed," said McBride, "that the whole nation shall be informed regarding the merits of prohibition, through the newspapers, magazines, radio broadcasts, public addresses, motion pictures and other approved methods."

In enlisting business leaders, McBride followed somewhat the same course as the wets, who have been aided by the support of men of wealth. The men named by McBride as heading the new dry movement include:

William J. Abbott, Boston editor; Dr. John Harvey Kellogg, Battle Creek sanitarium proprietor; William F. Cochran, Baltimore capitalist; Dr. Howard A. Kelley, Baltimore physician; Fillmore Condit, Long Beach, Calif., capitalist; Fred N. Down, Portland, retired banker; Admiral W. S. Sims, Newport, R. I.; Senator Arthur Capper, Republican representative, Kansas; Henry M. Leeland, Detroit automobile man, former Senators Newell Sanders of Tennessee and Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma; E. S. Collins, lumber operator, Portland, Oregon; Foster Copeland, Columbus, Ohio, banker; Homer C. Selby, Portsmouth, Ohio; Eugene N. Fess, former governor of Massachusetts; Joseph W. Marshall, Pittsburgh banker; T. H. Maytag, manufacturer, Newton, Iowa; Joseph M. Steel, Philadelphia, and Howard D. Taft, brother of former President Taft, Watertown, Conn.

UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PLANS UNIQUE COURSE

Radical Changes From Established Procedure Are Announced Today

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—(UP)—The youngest major university in the country headed by the nation's youngest university president, today offered to the world a plan of education that provides for radical changes from established procedure that has been followed for ages.

Announcement that the University of Chicago would undertake an experiment intended to bring about a radically different, speedier and yet more thorough system of education and teaching was made by Robert Maynard Hutchins, youthful president.

The principal change, Hutchins announced, will be that an undergraduate student instead of being required to obtain a certain number of credits or attend a certain number of years, will be advanced, without a degree, whenever he demonstrates by examination that he has acquired a general education.

Many students, the young president predicted, will finish their undergraduate work in two years instead of four, due to radically different methods of teaching. Some, he said, will require more time. A genius, he predicted, may finish the work in six months and he believes cases of students completing the work in a year will not be rare.

Under the new system, the graduate school will become a thing of the past, with the undergraduate and graduate all worked into one big system that will be divided in a new way, with five main sections, each headed by a dean.

These five divisions will be: Social sciences, physical sciences, biological sciences; humanities, to include such subjects as philosophy, art, religion and the languages; and the college. Degrees will be awarded in the upper divisions and the professional schools.

GUARDSMEN SEEK MISSING HUNTER

WINSTON, Ariz., Nov. 20.—(UP)—National Guardsmen and volunteer posse resumed their search in the snow covered mountains today for J. D. Bird, 25, missing hunter, with each passing hour dimming their chances of success.

A score of militiamen, flanked by two parties of townsmen, led by peace officers, searched far into the night without result but were determined to continue until some trace of the missing man is found.

Airplane pilots braved a bitter cold wind sweeping across the mountains 40 miles south of here, taking off again from Winslow airport in the hopes of leading ground crews to the lost man.

Death Claims Old Graduate On Day Before Ceremonies

BERKELEY, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Friday, which was to have been the biggest day of Col. George C. Edwards' life, will be the day of his funeral.

The University of California was to have dedicated the new southwest athletic and training field in honor of the "grand old man of the university." The field was to have been christened "Edwards field" in honor of its oldest alumnus.

A radio had been hooked up to the old man's bedside so that he might hear the ceremony.

Edwards died yesterday, his failing strength of 78 years unable to sustain him.

The field was to have been a tribute to the elderly man's constant interest in university affairs. He was present at every athletic event until his final illness two months ago.

Two Famous Volcanos Active Again

REDDING, Calif., Nov. 20.—(UP)—Seismologists were interested today in the strange fact that the two most active volcanos on the Pacific coast and in Hawaii both showed signs of eruptions yesterday at the same time.

While residents of the island flocked to the rim of Kilauea to view the spectacle of its six fountains of belching lava, persons living near here were startled by the rumblings and activity of Mt. Lassen, California crater.

Whether the incident was more than a coincident was unknown.

LOST PLANE IS LOCATED WITH THREE VICTIMS

Air Liner Is Found In Rugged Tehachapi Mountain Country

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Ice coated wings and a blinding snowstorm which caused the pilot to lose his bearings, was blamed today for the crash which brought death to three persons in a Pacific Air transport plane in the rugged Tehachapi mountains.

Bodies of the three were found late yesterday with the wreckage of the plane seven miles northwest of the Antelope valley emergency landing field.

A lone cowboy, Ed Newcomb, searching for trace of the plane which disappeared on its north-bound run, came across the debris.

Crushed in the cockpit was the body of Flavius Donaldson, pilot. Fifty feet away were the bodies of Miss Jean Markow, the passenger, and George Rogers, mechanic, covered by a light mantle of snow. All had been killed instantly when the crash occurred early Monday.

Donaldson died with his hand on the wide open throttle, and it was necessary to cut away the fuselage to free his body. The bodies were turned over to C. N. Houze of Kern county.

Coroner Houze and Captain Leroy Galyen of the state motorcycle squad, reported that the plane's clock had stopped at 2:15 o'clock, eight minutes after Donaldson had radioed his home port that he was "above the fog" and did "not know his position."

Donaldson apparently was aware of his approximate location at the time his plane died heading into the hills, for he was heading directly for the emergency landing field.

It was evident that he realized that he had dropped from 9000 feet to 4500 feet in that short space of eight minutes, for the ship hit the ground with the throttle wide open, indicating that he was again attempting to gain altitude.

Three hundred pounds of mail, intact in the wreckage, was forwarded to its destination.

THREE BANDITS GET $10,000 IN JEWELS

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Three young bandits held up three women and a man in Chicago's "Gold Coast" district last night and escaped with about $10,000 worth of jewelry.

The women were Mrs. Warren McArthur, of Phoenix, Ariz., Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Chapin Palmer, and Mrs. Palmer's mother, Mrs. Charles S. Dennis, widow of an attorney.

Mrs. McArthur saved a valuable beaded bag and her rings by slipping the rings into the bag and convincing the bandits that the bag was worthless.

W. C. T. U. COMES TO AID OF NATION'S CHIEF EXECUTIVE

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 20.—(UP)—The national W. C. T. U. today went to the aid of President Hoover when the executive board met here as the aftermath of the 56th annual convention which ended last night.

The board picked Seattle, Wn., for the 1932 convention city, and announced that the first of the 20 regional conferences which will replace the 1931 convention, will be held in Washington in December 1931.

POLICE JUDGE CHARGED WITH ROBBERING BANK

Prominent Woodland Man In Jail Says He Badly Needed Money

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Desperate because he was out of work and had pressing obligations to meet, a former police judge of Woodland was in jail today, charged with holding up a bank here yesterday.

He is Shirley F. Schluer, member of a prominent Yolo county family, who told authorities that he had "tried to live beyond his means," and turned to crime to clear up an overwhelming debt.

Shortly after he pointed a gun at a clerk in the Summit bank here and walked out with $1000, Schluer was picked up by police on a downtown corner.

"I had to have $500 immediately," he told the United Press in his cell today, after jail attendants had quieted him when he became hysterical as he was questioned.

"All my friends had turned me down and I couldn't go to my relatives again—I had already borrowed to the limit from them. I took a chance and lost."

Schluer's wife visited him in jail early this morning, after a hurried trip from their home in Berkeley, with her two children, who did not go to the jail.

"This is a poor way to celebrate a birthday," he said ruefully, explaining that he was 37 years old today.

"But it's fate, I guess. I haven't worked since last May and when you get down to your last dime, with no prospect of work, and with debt staring at you on every side you just don't care. I was crazy with worry."

His last remark coincided with rumors that the former judge would plead temporary insanity as the cause of his act.

A graduate of Stanford university, Schluer was prominent in civic circles and popular in social life in Woodland, according to friends there. About a year ago he was offered a position as state motor vehicle inspector in San Francisco.

"That's where my trouble began," he said. "The job only lasted a short time and then I got on temporarily in another state position, but that finally ended and I have been walking the streets since then."

"Maybe if I had stayed on in Woodland I would never be in this trouble."

He was employed as a clerk in the law firm of Huston, Huston & Huston in Woodland in addition to his position as police judge there. This firm last night announced that it would defend him.

DEATH TOLL IN BETHANY STORM PLACED AT 20

Rehabilitation Work Started In Oklahoma Town This Morning

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Rehabilitation of Bethany, a religious colony of 2000 inhabitants near here laid level yesterday by cyclonic winds, was started today with every charitable organization in the state lending aid.

The death toll stood at 20 with more than 10 of the 100 injured expected to die from serious injuries received when the cyclone, accompanied by a drenching rain, struck the suburban settlement.

The wind descended without warning and cut a 300-yard path. More than 10 homes and business establishments were smashed.

Residents of the little town, where pictures are prohibited and storekeepers are not allowed to sell cigarettes, were trapped as they went about their routine tasks.

Three children were killed instantly in the Camel Creek school house near Bethany. Quick thinking of Miss Mildred Proctor, the teacher, in ordering them to lie on the floor when she saw the approaching cyclone, enabled other pupils to escape.

Rehabilitation work was in charge of L. M. Jones, Red Cross official, and Adjutant General Charles F. Barrett, in command of three troops of National Guardsmen. The village was under virtual martial law, with guardsmen patrolling the streets to prevent pillaging of wrecked stores and homes.

Gov. W. J. Holloway started plans to raise a state-wide relief fund.

More than 600 persons made homeless by the storm spent the night on cots and in tents taken from here. Emergency supplies of food were rushed to the village.

$200,000 In Vets' Funds Available Before January 1

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 20.—(UP)—More than $200,000 in veterans' funds will be available for construction of homes before January 1, George M. Stout, secretary of the Veterans' Welfare board, said today.

Later the $200,000 bond issue voted by the people in November will be released. The $200,000 represents income of the board from payments of veterans who already have their homes.

S. F. BROKER JAILED

OAKLAND, Nov. 20.—(UP)—While Raymond L. Roberts, head of a San Francisco investment company, was held today in default of $20,000 bail on charges of grand theft, police sought two companions alleged to have assisted him in murdering Californians of $300,000.

Roberts was said to have obtained $42,000 from a begonia, of San Francisco, $3000 in cash, the rest in "gold" notes of a non-existent mining corporation, given in exchange for Deglantoni's ranch at St. Helena.

Store Bandits Fire On Samaritan

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Capt. Harry Claybourne, veteran of the Los Angeles fire department, tried to be a good Samaritan last night, but won't try again.

Driving with his wife and son, he saw an automobile leave a grocery store. A carton of cigarettes fell from the car.

Claybourne started pursuit. As he drew alongside to inform the occupants of their missing smokes, he was greeted by four shots fired by two businesslike bandits who had just held up the store.

Claybourne, unhurt, decided not to tell them about the cigarettes.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Los Angeles, according to the weather bureau was a low area near Pomona where the mercury dropped to 23 degrees.

Some low temperatures last night were:

Los Angeles, 46; El Cajon, 31; Imperial, 31; Pomona, 34; Redlands, 32; Santa Ana, 31; Santa Barbara, 35; Riverside, 34; Pasadena, 36.

EX-CONVICT HELD AS MODERN FAGAN

SAN JOSE, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Charged with operating the conspiracy of a modern Fagan, William Foley, 23, ex-convict, was held today on vagrancy charges pending the assembling of his juvenile gang.

Police were apprised of Foley's operations when they arrested a small boy found poking about the tonneau of a parked automobile. Terrified, the boy told them he was working under Foley's orders, and had a dozen young accomplices.

Foley led to a cave near the river on the edge of town, police found a quantity of assorted small belongings such as might have been taken from parked automobiles.

EX-CONVICT FREE OF MURDER COUNT

EUREKA, Calif., Nov. 20.—(UP)—George Allison, former convict and sweetheart of Irene Frase, beauty shop operator, who was found dead Sunday night in his quarters at a Wildwood hotel, was free today, following a grand jury investigation of the girl's death.

Though Allison was held for almost a week while officers checked seeming discrepancies in the theory that the girl shot herself, the jury was unable to find anything justifying further inquiry.

ISLAND OF OAHUA FLOODED BY RAINS OF LAST TWO DAYS

HONOLULU, Nov. 20.—With nine persons known to be dead and damages estimated at between $100,000 and $200,000, the floods that for the past two days have ravaged the beautiful island of Oahu were believed today to have subsided.

Simultaneously with the breaking of the storm a new danger loomed near here. As the sun's welcomed rays began to pierce the clouds, Kilauea volcano, on the island of Hawaii, began to erupt threateningly and erupt. Despite the warning, hundreds

May Cancel Public Debt Retirement

Mellon Not to Recommend Action But Congress Will Favor It

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—(UP)—The treasury has given consideration to suspending the public debt retirement program next year in order to continue the one per cent income tax cut effectively this year, it was learned authoritatively today.

Secretary Mellon, however, will not recommend such a move in his annual report to congress because he believes the matter will be brought up anyway for discussion at the short session.

It was indicated at the treasury that suspension of debt retirement, which will take $395,000,000 next year unless congress acts, would not be actively opposed. Treasury officials refused, however, to say definitely what their attitude would be if congress proposed legislation to suspend debt retirement.

For some years the treasury has been paying off the public debt at a rate much in excess of the amount originally contemplated by congress. To suspend the debt retirement program for one or two years, therefore, would not seriously impair federal finances on the government's credit, the treasury said.

Since the world war, the treasury has reduced the public debt from $26,500,000,000 to about $16,000,000,000. Of this $10,000,000,000 reduction, only slightly more than $3,000,000,000 was required by law. The treasury, therefore, is now about $7,000,000,000 ahead of the debt retirement program required by law.

STATE OFFICE FOR ROLPH'S SECRETARY

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Governor-elect James Rolph Jr. announced today he would appoint Edward Rainey, his executive secretary, to succeed Will C. Wood as state superintendent of banks.

At the same time he let it be known that he would back the candidacy of Angelo Rossi to succeed him in his unexpired term as mayor of San Francisco.

Rainey, former newspaperman, has been with Rolph since he became mayor of San Francisco 19 years ago. Boomed for appointment as state director of public works, Rainey is understood to have indicated a preference for the banking superintendency. The office pays $10,000 annually and traveling expenses.

Lindbergh On U. S. Payroll-Without Pay

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Although Charles A. Lindbergh has been on the payroll of the commerce department for nearly three years, he never has drawn a cent of pay, it was learned today. He was here for another meeting with aeronautics branch officials.

Lindbergh was placed on the department's roster as a technical adviser at a salary of $25 a day soon after his New York to Paris flight in 1927. He comes here frequently to confer with officials, but because he has never been officially summoned, always coming of his own volition, he has not drawn any pay.

THIRTY TWO INCHES SNOW COVER RAILS

Two Hundred Passengers En Route East Are Held At Trinidad, Colorado

TRAFFIC IS SUSPENDED

Telephone Wires Collapse Under Crushing Weight Of Snow—Cattle Killed

TRINIDAD, Colo., Nov. 20.—(UP)—Snowdrifts as high as a house halted transcontinental rail traffic here today, impaired wire communication, and paralyzed travel of all kinds in southern Colorado.

A Santa Fe road engine sent out to clear the tracks between here and La Junta, was derailed when it encountered a mountainous drift.

The weather bureau recorded a snowfall of 32 inches, and Mount San Rafael hospital on the outskirts of the city was isolated. The first physician to reach the hospital in 24 hours arrived there on snow shoes this morning.

The roof of the Chevrolet garage here collapsed under the weight of the snow, damaging many automobiles. Many other roofs were reported in danger of collapsing momentarily.

Arrangements were made to send 200 passengers on Santa Fe eastbound trains, who were held here last night, to Pueblo, after snow plows battered their way through the drifts to that city.

From Pueblo the stranded travelers will be sent to La Junta, thence eastward.

Traffic on the Colorado and Southern between here and Amarillo was suspended while crews of men sought to clear the tracks. One plow was sent southward from Trinidad, another north from Amarillo.

Passengers of four C. and S. trains were marooned here, at Fort Worth, Tex.

The worst drifts were on the Santa Fe line 20 miles east of Trinidad, where the tracks run 400 and 600 feet through deep cuts. The snow in these two cuts obliterated the tops of telegraph poles along the right-of-way.

Sisters at Mount San Rafael hospital administered to patients throughout the night without the aid of physicians who were prevented from reaching the institution because of high drifts on a detour road leading from the city. Relatives of patients who went to the hospital yesterday were prevented from returning to the city last night.

Telephone wires between here and La Junta went out under the crushing weight of snow, but one of the commercial telegraph companies kept that city in touch with the outside world.

SACRAMENTO PLANS WELCOME FOR ROLPH

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 20.—(UP)—An executive committee of 45 Sacramento city and county citizens prepared today to make plans for a huge inaugural welcome to honor Governor-elect James Rolph.

Possibility of inviting the Pacific fleet, to be in San Francisco inaugural week, to participate in the ceremony, is being considered. Hollywood's motion picture studios may be asked to join with Sacramento in furthering the event in some way yet to be determined, it was said.

SURF GIVES UP TWO BODIES

SAWTELLE, Calif., Nov. 20.—(UP)—The bodies of two middle-aged women were found floating in the surf a short distance from the mouth of the Santa Monica canyon today.

Police said that it was believed the two women committed suicide in a pact. One of them wore a black shawl wrapped around her head.

No identification marks could be found on the bodies or clothing of the victims.

Authorities said the condition of the bodies indicated drowning occurred yesterday.

Orange County Repulses

ORCHARDS HERE NOT AFFECTED BY COLD SNAP

The first assault of Jack Frost against Orange county was launched early this morning and successfully repulsed by citrus growers in the districts affected. It was learned today from Farm Adviser Harold Wahlberg and Ross Shafer, of Tustin, head of the Frost Protective league.

The mercury reached a low of 28½ degrees in the Tustin district, it was reported, and some smudging was done to protect the young groves from any possible damage. Orchard heaters were used in several localities throughout this part of the state, there being a general firing in Pomona valley last night, according to word received by Wahlberg this morning.

Effects of the frost were noted in Santa Ana by early risers today, as lawns and roofs were generously coated with the silvery coating denoting the approach

Chicken Thieves Steal 35 Fowls In Anaheim Area

Chicken thieves, believed to be two Mexicans who are charged by sheriff's officers with no less than 10 thefts in and around Anaheim during the past several weeks, robbed two more roosts last night, according to a report on file here.

Twenty-five red chickens were reported stolen from the pens of Walter Trapp, of Anaheim, route No. 2, on Sunkist avenue, some time last night, and his neighbor, J. W. Beatty, reported that he lost approximately 10 white chickens by raiders on his pens.

The tracks of two men, both of whom had on tennis shoes, and the tracks of a dog were found by investigating officers today. These same tracks have been found around other looted chicken pens lately, F. W. Howard, chief criminal deputy sheriff reported.

Tomatoes and other tender plants in the county that were unprotected last night probably were seriously damaged by the frost, Wahlberg asserted today.

PLANNERS GET PROPOSED CODE FOR BUILDERS

The first draft of the new proposed county building code was submitted to the Orange county planning commission today by the committee on this subject, which was headed by Jules W. Markel. The code is quite voluminous and will require discussion at several sessions of the board before it is ready for general public discussion or recommendation to the board of supervisors.

The subdivision regulation ordinance, which has been before the board for some time, was given final approval at the session of the commission in the court house today and recommended to the board of supervisors for adoption. It is anticipated that this ordinance, on which there was a public hearing several weeks ago, will be presented to the supervisors next week. County Surveyor W. K. Hillyard was chairman of the committee which worked out this ordinance.

W. H. Griswold, of San Juan Capistrano, appeared before the commission today in the interest of the proposed state beach park site at San Clemente and asked that a member of the commission be appointed to work with a member of the board of supervisors and the engineer of the state park commission in consideration of this location. This would in no way interfere with proceedings in connection with the site between Huntington Beach and Newport Beach, which is now in process of condemnation, Griswold asserted. He also declared that a bond issue would not be required for purchasing the San Clemente site.

Other action taken by the commission today included tentative acceptance of a map of a subdivision in the Emerald Bay district, which was referred to the Laguna Beach city council for approval, and the selection of a committee to work on the removal of sign boards from scenic highways. Members of the committee are to cooperate with advertisers to keep these scenic routes free of bill boards, are Louis Briggs, of Balboa, Hugh Thomson, of Orange, and Nat Neff.

Calvin Coolidge Says:

Former President of the United States
NORTHAMPTON, Nov. 20.—When prices are high the value of the dollar is low. When prices fall the dollar rises. For that reason it is apparent now how wise it has been to reduce the national debt. It was done when the dollar was low and therefore more easy to get. Now that it is higher it will be more difficult to pay the debt. It takes more products to get the dollar.

Another advantage is the saving in interest. We have paid about five-thirtieths of the national debt which, with refunds at lower rate, has reduced the yearly interest about a half billion dollars. Otherwise the present decrease in revenues from declining trade would force a heavy increase in taxes at a time when the country can least afford to pay them.

Probably increased taxes can be avoided but apparently debt reduction will be curtailed. Past governmental economies produced a surplus which reduced our debt and taxes and made it much more easy to handle declining revenues. We may need some more old fashioned governmental economy. Certainly it is a time to save all public money consistent with a policy of giving employment.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 20.—W. L. (Young) Stirling scored a technical knockout over "Whitey" Gorsline in the third round of a scheduled 10-round bout last night. Gorsline struck only five blows and was down three times before the bout was stopped. He fell out of the ring in the first round attempting to avoid Stirling's punches.

Immunization of 200 children at Buena Park was completed yesterday by the Orange county health department, it was announced today by Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, who started the work there some time ago. The children, some 30 of whom are of preschool age, are now protected against diphtheria. The inoculations yesterday, the third of a series of three shots, were made by Dr. Gordon L. Russell, deputy health officer, completing the task started by Dr. Sutherland, who gave the first two treatments.

DUARTE IS FREED ON MURDER CHARGE

The jury which heard the evidence in the trial of M. Duarte in department one of superior court before Judge H. G. Ames, required only 18 minutes last night to reach a verdict clearing the accused man and setting him free.

He was alleged to have caused the death of F. Oroso, who was a passenger in a car he was driving when it was wrecked several weeks ago near Huntington Beach, and to have been intoxicated at the time of the fatal crash. The jury retired at 5 p. m. and returned a verdict of not guilty to the court at 5:15 p. m. He was defended by S. B. Kaufman and Franklin G. West.

MILLIONAIRE HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 20.—(UP)—Nelson C. Bowles, reputed to be worth five million dollars, who is held on a charge of first degree murder of his wife, awoke today in a jail corridor which he shared with a burglar and two vagrants.

"Gimme butts, will you?" a vagrant youth inquired sliding up to the millionaire.

"Er, what's that?" Bowles replied.

"The stub of your cigaret," the youth answered.

"Take the package," Bowles answered and the surprised youth scuttled down the corridor to share it with the other cellmates.

Archduke Otto Of Hungary Observes His 18th Birthday

PARIS, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Archduke Otto of Hungary, tutored in the ways of kingship amid penury rather than luxury, reached his 18-year-old majority today and the right to claim the vacant throne of his country.

It had been predicted freely that Otto's 18th birthday would be chosen as the date for an attempt to reinstate the Hapsburgs on the Hungarian throne, but reports received here said that the anniversary would be celebrated by a quiet family gathering. Otto, his mother, the ex-Empress Zita, and others of the Hapsburg family, are in residence at Steenochkerzee castle, outside Brussels.

Mrs. Santa Claus
MAKES SOME GOOD SUGGESTIONS
Mrs. Santa Claus has gone modern. Tired of being a stay-at-home... sewing frills on doll dresses and painting blushes on their china cheeks... she's taken a hand in her husband's business. And (don't let this get back to Nicholas) they do say she's much more helpful than he is when it comes to making suggestions to Christmas shoppers.
And she says, "Give people gifts that are as useful as they are lovely... give them Westinghouse electrical appliances." For what matron or maid — or even bachelor — wouldn't appreciate an exquisitely designed percolator... a gleaming toaster... a waffle iron to turn the most informal party into a delightful feast? And, surely, every woman will appreciate the gift of easier, shorter ironing hours—made possible by a Westinghouse Iron!
These are just a few of Mrs. Santa Claus' suggestions. The Westinghouse dealer nearest you has a complete display which he will be glad to show you when you drop in.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

Do not be disturbed because you have some doubts. They are symptoms of your endeavor to face experiences and problems bigger than your previous faith has had to meet.

Doubts are the doorway to richer understanding. Be glad they have appeared. Go out to meet them fearlessly. For God will carry you on to deeper convictions than you have ever known. If you trust Him to lead the way.

"The only doubt that damns is the doubt that does not fight on, the doubt that prides itself in denial, glories in its supposed intellectual superiority and is cynically careless in disturbing the faith of others."

The reality of your sorrow will make your eyes more keen to see through your doubts to a satisfying and sustaining faith.

BURGLAR ENTERS SANTA ANA HOMES

Santa Ana's "society" burglar is believed to have been at work again last night. Two burglary reports were received at the police station today, although at neither home entered was a party in progress at the time. The homes of Dr. J. A. Hatch, at 930 South Ross street, and G. R. Margerum, of 1110 West Walnut street, were entered. It was reported.

The "modus operandi" of the thief who entered the two houses was much the same as employed by the party burglar who has kept the police busy for the past several weeks. A screen was removed on the bedroom window of each home and entrance made in that manner. Purse, found inside, were looted.

In neither case, however, were the purses removed, as has been the custom of the party burglar in the past.

A total of $2 was taken from two purses in Dr. Hatch's home, while $10 in cash was removed from Mrs. Margerum's purse. It was reported.

L. A. CONCERNS TO ENTER FIELD HERE

Announcement of two Los Angeles concerns extending operations into Orange county territory with locations in Santa Ana was made today by Ray Goodell, local real estate broker, who negotiated the leases for the two concerns.

The Chapman Ice Cream company, of Los Angeles, has taken a five-year lease on premises formerly occupied by the Orange County Tire company at 1622 North Main street. The new lessee already has taken possession of the property and is now engaged in the remodeling of the premises, said to involve an expenditure of close to $5,000. In addition to operating an ice cream parlor in the front part of the building, arrangements will be made for the manufacture and storage of the company's products, and for the distribution of the same throughout the county.

It also was announced that a well known Chinese caterer, operating several high class chop suey places in Los Angeles, has taken a five-year lease on property located at 404 West Fourth street. The new lessee intends to operate a high class oriental cafe, catering especially to shoppers and theater patrons.

HOLIDAY RAILROAD RATES ANNOUNCED

W. A. Shook, general agent in Santa Ana for the Union Pacific railroad, announced today a new schedule of rates for travel to California from the East, which it is expected will result in considerable tourist travel to this section during the Christmas season.

According to Shook the round trip fare from the East to California will be one and one-third single fares, on diverse routes, or one fare plus 50 cents, applicable only on the same route in both directions. Practically the same rates prevail for travel from here to the East during the holidays, Shook said.

BREAKFASTERS HOLD SERVICES FOR INN TODAY

Obsequies were held over the "body of St. Ann's inn" today at the last meeting of the Breakfast club hostelry. The inn, which has been purchased by Orange county as an office annex to the court house, is to close its doors December 1 and fitting ceremonies were conducted today in a skit entitled "The Ghost of St. Ann's Inn."

The program was under the direction of the Rev. Harry E. Owings and Ed. Vegely. R. L. Bisby, manager of the inn, and three members of the board of directors of the institution, H. J. Forgy, A. J. Crookshank and Oliver Halsell, dressed in black robes, appeared bearing a heavy coffin, which was labeled "St. Ann's Inn" on one end, and "St. Ann's Out" on the other. The casket was decorated with a large bouquet of fresh vegetables.

As the coffin was deposited at the head of the table, members of the club gathered about the bier and the lid slowly arose to permit the escape of additional vegetables. Then a hollow voice spoke, telling of the end of the inn, and as the lid was raised further, the ghastly face of a black shrouded figure was visible. The departed spirit was represented by Fred Fogarty.

Other numbers on the program were two tenor solos by Isadore Fields, who sang the "Aria from Pagliacci" and "Volga Boatman." D. C. Cianfoni played three trombone numbers, "I Hear You Calling Me," "Road to Mandalay" and "An Old Refrain." Both musicians were accompanied by Art Cannon.

The club took unanimous action endorsing the business prosperity month for December, which has been inaugurated by the Lions club.

The committee appointed for the next meeting, which is to be held in two weeks, December 4, at Ketter's cafe, was announced by Bruce Switzer as Earl Morrow, Art Cannon, Jack Cope and Guy Gilbert. The committee for the Christmas program is George Boyd, Norman Sprowl, Parke Roper and Jack Cope.

Arrangements for a golf tournament among the club members are to be arranged by a committee headed by A. K. Loerch, Jr.

The Applan way, the most famous of all ancient Roman roads, was about 350 miles long. Its chief terminals were Rome and Brandist in southern Italy.

PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA TO BE ORGANIZED

First steps toward the organization of an Orange County Philharmonic orchestra, to embrace players from all parts of the county, and to carry the finest symphony music to the various centers, were taken when a group of men and women met in Anaheim Wednesday noon to formulate plans.

The result of this conference was a decision to proceed to interest the music lovers of Fullerton, Anaheim, Orange and Santa Ana in the promotion of this musical enterprise, as a means of providing training and practice for amateur musicians, and of enabling all the people to hear the great musical compositions. D. C. Claffoni, of Santa Ana, famous conductor and composer, is available as conductor of the orchestra, it was declared. Scores of well trained musicians in the county are expected to enlist in its membership. The goal is an orchestra of at least 90 pieces, with instrumentation equal to the production of the best in orchestra music.

A local committee is to be formed in each of the four centers of Orange county, and the present project calls for one concert during the season in each city.

Among those attending the conference on Wednesday were Kate E. McCullah, Juanita Ross, J. W. Price, Louis Danz, H. W. Lewis, Mrs. Alma Schwenker and Miss Ruth Taunton, of Anaheim, and the Rev. Harry E. Owings, R. C. Smedley and D. C. Claffoni, of Santa Ana.

Meetings are to be held within the next few days in Fullerton and Orange for the purpose of interesting local groups in the project. It is hoped that the newly formed orchestra will be ready to begin its season of concert work by the first of February.

FIELD MEET IS SCHEDULED BY LOCAL SCOUTS

A committee meeting was held last night at the home of Lloyd B. Stearns, in which it was decided that a Boy Scout field meet of district one, Orange county, which includes Santa Ana and Tustin, would be held on the night of Jan. 17, 1931. The place has been decided on, although it is believed that the Bowl at Sixth and Olive streets is the most practical place.

The committee, which consists of Merton Butler, first mate of the Sea Scout ship; Scoutmaster G. W. Paquette, of troop 20, Santa Ana; Lloyd B. Stearns, field executive from Santa Ana scout headquarters, and the chairman, Scoutmaster Fred F. Faber, of troop 29, Santa Ana, also decided that there would be 12 events. These events are to be chosen by the respective troops of district 1 out of a list of 25 selected by the committee.

It also was announced that the court of honor dates are to be every third Monday in the month and that a list of regular merit badge examiners is being prepared for the Scouts.

S. A. Students In Oklahoma Escape Cyclone Injuries

The cyclone which wrecked Bethany, Okla., yesterday, did not damage the Nazarene college located there, nor injure two Santa Ana young people who are attending that educational institution, it was announced today by the Rev. U. E. Harding, pastor of the Santa Ana Church of the Nazarene.

The Rev. Mr. Harding's son, Whitcomb, and daughter, Evelyn, are students at the college. A wire from the president of the school, received by the Santa Ana pastor yesterday, announced that the school and students were unharmed. The many friends of the Harding family in the community have expressed considerable concern about the safety of the two young people, the pastor stated today, and he expressed his appreciation for this interest.

EDISON BUDGET IS ANNOUNCED BY DIRECTORS

With the approval of a construction budget in excess of $28,000,000 the board of directors of Southern California Edison company, Ltd., has indicated the scope of work to be undertaken next year. This budget, according to R. H. Ballard, president, is one of the largest in the company's history.

More than $25,000,000 of the appropriation will be used for new construction, the remaining $3,000,000 being allocated for re-enforcements and extraordinary maintenance.

"These expenditures, which will average two and one-third million dollars per month throughout the year 1931, are predicted upon our belief in the early resumption of normal activities in this territory, which will result in an increased electric output of between seven and 10 per cent," Ballard said.

One of the largest items in the budget will provide for the installation of another giant turbine in the Edison steam plant at Long Beach. This will have a capacity of 135,000 horsepower and together with facilities for providing fuel supply will call for an expenditure of $8,620,000.

For the completion next year of the new Edison building at Fifth street and Grand avenue, $1,295,000 will be provided by the new budget.

This building, which will be ready for occupancy in the spring of 1931, is to be one of the most modern structures in America.

For extension and improvement of the electrical distribution system, the new budget provides $15,270,000 which will be used for the construction of new lines, the building of new substations and general expenditures throughout the Edison system.

"Employees of the Edison company now number 5100, this being practically the normal quota since the completion of our water power project at Big Creek in Fresno county," Ballard said. "The expenditures as contemplated in this budget assure continuous employment to this number of people throughout 1931."

"We anticipate new business amounting to 350,000 horsepower next year," Ballard added. "This will be composed of new industrial, agricultural and domestic load, both from present consumers, as well as 27,000 new consumers in Los Angeles and throughout Southern California, who will apply for service next year, according to our estimates."

"New capital required for this extensive program will be provided through the sale of bonds and both preferred and common stocks. Following its general financial policy, the company plans to provide at least 30 per cent of the new capital requirements through the sale of common stock, the remainder being about equally divided between bonds and preferred stock," Ballard concluded.

Santa Ana high school debaters will clash with Los Angeles high school speakers Friday at 8 p. m. in room 231 of the administration building at the local school. The question for discussion is: Resolved, That the 13-month calendar should be adopted.

George Munro, who brought national honors to Santa Ana high school last year, and May Maag are to represent the Saints on the affirmative. The judges are Roy L. Everyone is invited to attend. S. M. Hayden is debating coach for Santa Ana.

REMOVE RAILS ON LINE FROM H. B. TO RIVER

Abandonment by the Pacific Electric Railway company of its line between the Santa Ana river and Huntington Beach was indicated today in an announcement by Sam Talbert that he had a force of 50 men employed in removing the ties and rails on the company's right-of-way.

Talbert said it was his opinion that the company would maintain operation of trains between Santa Ana and Greenville, the contractor pointing out that the bean warehouse at Greenville provides considerable tonnage for transportation.

It was recalled by Talbert today that he built the electric line between Santa Ana and Huntington Beach some 20 years ago. At the time of construction the move by the Pacific Electric to offer direct rail communication between the county seat of Orange county and the beach community was considered one of the most progressive steps in its development of transportation facilities in Orange county.

Wires and poles were removed from the right of way six weeks ago, Talbert said. Rails being removed are being transferred to Huntington Beach. Other iron is being shipped to Los Angeles. The contractor said that there will be 18,000 ties to take up and that these are being disposed of in small lots, a sale of 3000 having been made this morning. Lumber reclaimed from bridges also is being sold, Talbert said.

PHOTOGRAPHERS TO GATHER TOMORROW

An instructive as well as entertaining program has been arranged for the last dinner meeting for the present year of the Photographers Association of Orange county, to be held tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. at the Orient cafe, located on the state highway between Santa Ana and Anaheim, according to Edward W. Cochems, president of the organization.

Following the dinner there will be a brief business session, including the reading of reports by Mary Betzold, secretary-treasurer of the association.

Earl S. Morrow, district manager of the Southern California Telephone company, will give a brief talk on the early history of photography.

Included among the numbers on the entertainment program are a reading by Betty Helen Mitchell; a Hawaiian dance by Lucille Andrews, and vocal selections by Miss Gertrude Wyman, accompanied by Mrs. Melba Woods.

They never lived together after that, and recently annulment proceedings were entered, which were granted.

PILES

Ended Without Cutting or Salves
Thousands of Pile sufferers have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves or cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To end Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation and strengthen the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonard was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 980 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer "must" get HEM-ROID from their own druggist with a rigid money-back guarantee.

Dr. Leonard's prescription has a wonderful record of success right in this city and McCoy Drug Store invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID and guarantee to refund the purchase price if it does not end all Pile misery—Adv.

Ever-increasing citrus crops have been marketed at steadily rising prices. Customers gladly pay more for Sunkist fruit because they know it and have confidence in it. Merchants prefer Sunkist because it sells more rapidly than other fruit.

The reputation that is Sunkist's is worth millions of dollars to Exchange growers in actual cash return every season. Sunkist advertising is one reason why Exchange growers, year after year, average the highest returns for their crops.

The manager of your nearest District Exchange or Exchange Association will be glad to answer your questions and acquaint you with the many reasons why over 75% of the California and Arizona citrus growers find Exchange membership profitable. WHAT THE EXCHANGE IS: The California Fruit Growers Exchange is a non-profit organization of more than 12,500 citrus fruit growers, producing over 75% of the California and Arizona citrus crop, operated by and for them on a cooperative basis. Its object is to develop the national and international market for its Oranges, Lemons and Grapefruit, and to provide a marketing organization that will sell the fruit of its members most advantageously and at least expense. Receipts from sales, less only actual cost of operation, are returned to growers. Applications are received through all the Exchange's 210 local packing associations, 25 District Exchanges, or at the central office in Los Angeles.

"EVERY time I see a Sunkist advertisement I—I get a thrill out of it. Because its my advertising—mine and every Exchange grower's."

"The way I look at it, I'm advertising my own personal business. For every box of fruit I set aside a definite amount for advertising. My advertising department takes care of the research and planning and preparation. And they take care of many other growers' advertising the same way—because by grouping our funds, we do a thorough job that otherwise could not be done at all."

"I'm proud of the fact that Sunkist advertising has been able to help increase the demand for citrus fruits. I'm proud of the way it has told the truth about the healthfulness of our products. How it has made orange juice a national habit."

"I'm proud of all these things—but the big result is the fact that it brings us higher prices for Sunkist Oranges and Lemons and Grapefruit. It is one of the reasons why I get higher returns from my crops—and one of the reasons why I think it's a fine thing to belong to the Exchange."

The facts are that in 23 years of unceasing work $13,121,000 has been invested in Sunkist

LAGUNA BEACH READY TO BUY FIRE HALL LOT

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 20.—

With the business before it chiefly of routine or minor importance, outstanding transactions before the city council Wednesday evening were the appropriation of $383.20 to be allowed in next year's budget for Chamber of Commerce booklet, virtual consummation of fire station site purchase and notice by Stillman B. Jamieson of intention to start suit to quiet title to Ruby street property.

No action was taken on the Jamieson matter, which came in a letter notifying the council of the removal of a tent which was on city-owned property. The letter was in response to a request that the tent be moved. Mr. Jamieson stipulated that this did not constitute conceding any city right in the matter and moreover that he intended to start suit within a week to quiet title. In the previous mandamus suit the city won.

Fred Leach told the council that the bid of $4500 for the lot at the corner of Third and Forest for a fire station site was rejected, but that if it were raised it would probably be accepted. The council authorized a new bid of $4875. The lot is part of the Joseph S. Thurston estate and is now occupied by the Wilcox and Son nursery. A period of 15 to 30 days for removal of the latter would have to be allowed, Mr. Leach said.

Councilman M. B. McMillan of the committee on fire station construction and other matters in connection with the bond issue of $20,000 for fire protection, reported for his committee. With selection of a site definite, Aubrey St. Clair, architect, can begin work. A number of fire stations had been viewed, he said, and ideas gathered.

EVANGELIST

The Rev. C. W. Rosendahl, below, of the Angelus Temple, general supervisor for all the Four Square branch churches, will visit the Santa Ana branch church, Friday night. He will have charge of the service at 7:30 p. m. There will be a song service conducted by Wilfred C. Parham, and a musical program, preceding the evangelistic message. The Rev. Mr. Rosendahl will be accompanied by his wife, also an evangelist who has just returned from the east, and she will make some definite announcements regarding Mrs. McPherson's return. Everyone is invited to attend this service.

Ocean avenue was received and hearing was set for December 3, when protesters are to appear before the council.

Another step was taken in the improvement of Glenneyre and other streets, which have been before three councils, in the appointment of C. Hartwell Smith, George William Smith and Roy M. Ropp as an appraisal committee to complete work already started. A resolution concerning the work was also adopted. This is preliminary to advancing the work to the point where immediate possession bonds may be issued, the amount of these to be determined.

Joe Skidmore, representing John the Skidmore Brothers corporation D. Beyer, trustee in bankruptcy for estate, told the council that broken water mains on Park avenue were due to faulty construction under city specifications, cement instead of leaded joints in cast iron pipe having been required. Skidmore reported Beyer as asserting that the city should pay part of the expense. The pipe is 16-inch and a number of leaks have developed.

Frank B. Champion, member of the water board as well as of the city council, took issue with the statement and said that city lines almost parallel on the same block and under similar specifications had not leaked and that no district water line had ever leaked. He attributed the fault to the use of a pump. It was left to the city engineer, Frank Gowan, to determine cause of the leaks.

BERLIN — A super-speed airplane is believed to be under construction in the plants of the Junkers Company. It is thought this plane will be capable of making more than 500 miles an hour at an altitude of 40,000 feet. MRS. PEARL KENDALL HESS, IN W. C. T. U. ADDRESS, SAYS MEDICINAL LIQUOR OUTLAWED

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 20.—(Special to The Register)—Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess, of Orange, director in the department of medical temperance for the National Women's Christian Temperance union, delivered an address today before the national convention of the W. C. T. U. here, in which she stressed the fact that modern physicians are predicting the day when alcohol in all its forms will be dispensed with in the sick room. Her address follows:

"To educate against the use of alcohol in medicine is a definite contribution toward the creation of sentiment in support of the Eighteenth amendment. "From 1874 to 1929 revolutionary changes have taken place in the attitude of the medical profession and the public concerning the therapeutic value of alcoholic liquors. Sixty years ago they were considered indispensable. Physicians prescribed them. The family medicine chest almost universally contained them. From pneumonia to snake bite they were held essential. How well the crusade mothers knew that many cases of chronic alcoholism had as their beginnings physicians' prescriptions which fanned into flame latent hereditary tendencies! How well they knew that the whiskey sling administered by mother's hand was often the beginning of the desire for beverage alcohol!"

"Frances E. Willard said: The chief corner stone of the state is the hearthstone." The origin of the department of medical temperance came from the desire of the Women's Christian Temperance union to help prevent the hearthstone from being the stepping stone to alcohol addiction. The process of education has at times seemed slow, but 54 years is a short period of time in which to evolve from a custom of centuries.

"Today beverage alcohol is an outlaw. In 22 states medicinal alcohol is an outlaw. A battle for its survival is continually being waged by its votaries. "The old idea, still prevalent to some extent, that alcohol builds up the system has been discarded by such progressive members of the medical profession as Doctors Howard Kelly, Charles Mayo, Arthur Dean Bevan, Richard Cabot and Ray Lyman Wilbur.

"Modern medicine," says Dr. Bevan, "does not quote 'take a little wine for thy stomach's sake.' Alcoholic drink neither promotes greater healthfulness nor in any way retards disease. "Professor Thomas Sewell, M. D., states, 'The day is not far distant when by universal consent alcohol in every form shall be cast out from the sickroom as its last lurking place, its final stronghold, and this without impairing the power of the healing art or limiting its resources.'"

"On October first Dr. Howard Kelly, of Johns Hopkins, released the following to the National Women's Christian Temperance union: 'I shall be glad when all prescribing of alcoholics is prohibited, since many members of the medical profession from time immemorial have been guilty of great abuses in their use of wines and liquors in cases in which they did no good but harm and thereby have made many drunkards, as they have made morphomaniacs by prescribing morphine.'"

"A lingering belief in the potency of alcoholic liquors as health builders has been capitalized by mammon. It has been stated that illness costs the people of the United States $5,000,000,000 annually. High powered advertising campaigns are a gesture for some of that money. Can it be increasingly true that P. T. Barnum was right when he said, 'the American people like to be humbugged.' It is not half so serious to spend money to see a fake manager as to be deceived into the belief that nostrums will cure most of the ills to which human flesh is heir! "The slogan of the commercial world is 'It pays to advertise.' The slogan of the department of medical temperance for the coming year will be 'It pays to educate.' With nothing to sell, the work goes forward by consecrated service. Optimism has characterized the reports from the files for the past year and a sentiment born of the Spirit of the crusade is manifested in the forecast for the future."

Santa Ana, Cal., Nov. 18, 1930.

EDITOR REGISTER,

Dear Sir: I am glad my letter regarding the program of school aims started some discussion. That was its object. My objection to the program is deeper however than its language, and I approved some of the proposed aims.

It has been my idea that education had much to do with the training of the mind. But in these Fourteen Points we do not find the mind mentioned. We find some ten moral aims, one physical, and the others rather vaguely social. It is a mistake to turn the public schools into moral training camps, and to escape from the dull, monotonous drill of training the mind.

The program is possibly in response to the feeling of dissatisfaction over the alarming increase in youthful crimes of violence and youthful suicides.

But I think they put the cart before the horse. I think all will agree that trained minds rarely commit crimes of violence. It is mental training that these young bandits need, not moral training.

If the young man is well trained mentally, he makes his adjustment to society quickly and easily; he becomes useful at once because of his mental training. Moral training will not help him much in the struggle for existence, and if he finds himself unfitted for that struggle, he is a possible candidate for crime at once.

The sound mind in a sound body is still a pretty good aim of education. The school is not to tell the boy what to think, but how to think. They should not worry over what he thinks of civil and home responsibilities and relations. If they teach him how to think it is enough. But that means mental training, and not lectures on moral conduct.

I wish the school authority would ask a few large employers who have handled boys in their business, just what criticism they have as to the training of the boys they receive from the schools. I have found boys unable to concentrate their minds, easily distracted, visionary, unable to pursue a subject for more than a few minutes, fallible in spelling, weak in grammar and without initiative.

I believe such boys are good and honest. The lack is not moral, but in mental training. They seem to lack interest in everything. If they should fall into bad ways, it would be because of lack of mental training and lack of interest in life and ideas.

The teachers should remember that the great majority of the young people will be poor, and will be employees. They can't all be public speakers, welfare workers, county employees and executives. Most of them will be moral enough and doable enough after a few years, but will they have the mental training to withstand monotony, to enjoy simple life, to live a prudent, orderly life with understanding? I doubt it.

Morals, social relations, ethics and appreciation of the beautiful are not sciences nor arts, and have not been reduced to any system, while much of their subject matters is controversial. It is better for the public school to adhere to established learning, to proven systems and accepted facts, pointing out theories only as theories, and such models of art as have met with general approval.

If the boys go out without sound mental training, they go as lambs to the slaughter, and there is no substitute for hard mental drill. Do not make the school too sugary.

If parents do not do their duty by their children, the teachers should not try to do it for them. That is not their job. If a man does not buy his boy an overcoat, the teacher should not buy it for him.

The public schools should stick to certainties and leave problems to the newspapers, the courts and clubs.

Dr. Davis says in his talk to the Parents-Teachers yesterday, (Nov. 17), that the idea of developing the mind by exercising it has been exploded. Would Dr. Davis kindly explain to the people when and by whom it was exploded? It would be interesting if true. Here, he touches the weak point in modern teaching.

You see my criticism to the effect that the Fourteen Points did not mention the training of the mind was not merely a matter of words. They did not mention the training of the mind because it has been exploded. Now with all respect to the teaching profession, I must say that this is pure nonsense, and dangerous nonsense.

Every mature man has been the mind expand under training; every parent has seen it. The response of the young mind to training is one of the facts of every family. The response of the mind to the training is truly amazing in some cases. All the faculties respond to training, most conspicuously the memory, but other faculties in their way. Now Dr. Davis says "Psychologists have exploded this idea. They find by experiment that it is not so."

Is it not evident that this subject should be again brought back to the common sense of the plain citizen, and not left to experts and psychologists. The subject might not be so urgent if the results of the school education were highly satisfactory, but it is common knowledge that they are not so. Very truly,

TAXPAYER.

Late News From Orange County Communities

Work Started On Costa Mesa Grammar School

POUR CEMENT FOR STRUCTURE ON ORANGE ST.

COSTA MESA, Nov. 20.—Construction work on the new grammar school for Costa Mesa, at Twenty-third and Orange streets, started yesterday with the pouring of cement.

Wilson and Beaver, of Anaheim, were awarded the general contract for this six classroom school building to be erected at a cost of approximately $30,000. Besides the six class rooms, there will be a principal's office and a kitchenette.

The rapid growth of Costa Mesa made it imperative to build a school last spring for this building.

Only the first six grades will be taught in this school. At the present time definite boundary lines have not been fully decided upon but will be worked out by the school board in the near future.

Mrs. Enid Jones will be the principal at this new school.

Members of the school board are: Mrs. S. Brown, president; Charles S. Dunn, clerk; F. A. Daley, W. J. Van Nest and Mrs. Margaret Stearns.

OLD TUNNEL FOUND BY RANCH WORKMEN

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Nov. 20.—While excavating for a cellar on the Stroschein ranch across the highway east from the mission, workmen opened an old tunnel, which had apparently led to the San Juan river. The tunnel was traced in that direction but had fallen in as it approached the mission and its outlet in the mission buildings is a matter of question. Those familiar with mission history assert it was constructed as a means of escape in the event of trouble with the Indians and also as a passage through which water could be brought to the mission from the river, in case of a siege. It is generally supposed the outlet was in or near the old stone church, although it is said by some who know the buildings that it was likely in the dwelling quarters of the early mission fathers.

Road crews, working on the new highway east of the mission graveyard, recently dug up the skeleton of a man, supposed to be an Indian buried in early days; numerous pieces of tile, and other small ruined trinkets associated with the mission were brought to light by the steam shovel and plow of the road crew.

Money from the drive will be used in the upkeep of the children's health camp established in Santiago canyon.

EXPERTS SHOW WAY TO KILL GERMS OF "ATHLETE'S FOOT"

Do your toes ever bother you with a general itching condition? Is the skin between them blistered? Or has it become moist and thickened, turning either red or white, or even developing a scaly dryness?

If you have any of these symptoms, you are probably a victim of "Athlete's Foot"—an insidious form of ringworm which has attacked more than 10 million people in the United States today.

So don't gamble with this strange disease—apply ABSORBINE JR. to the infected parts twice a day. It not only helps to curb serious complications, but actually kills the germs wherever it penetrates.

For after thorough tests, bacteriologists of a famous New York laboratory showed that this mild, soothing, yet powerful, antiseptic is especially deadly to the linea trichophyton germs which cause "Athlete's Foot."

It is wise to use ABSORBINE JR. after every exposure to wet surfaces—in public places—even in your bathroom. For these tiny parasites breed and lurk simply everywhere, and are always ready to attack. At all drug stores, $1.25. W. F. Young, Inc., Springfield, Mass.

Harbor High Ceremonies Due Dec. 17

NEWPORT HEIGHTS, Nov. 20.—Dedication of the new Newport harbor union high school will take place at the school here December 17, according to present plans. It is expected that all the buildings will be completed by that time.

The high school is one of the proudest achievements of the harbor district and among other things has served to bring together more closely than ever the various parts of the harbor district. The dedication will mark the final achievement of the high school project.

There are more than 200 students in attendance at the school instead of the 150 expected the first year. After the Christmas vacation more are expected. Only three years of instruction is being given. Next year all four will be on the curriculum.

SCHOOL FIGURES COMPILED FOR PLACENTIA C. C.

PLACENTIA, Nov. 20.—S. James Tuffree, clerk of the Fullerton union high school board, speaking at the Placentia chamber of commerce meeting Tuesday, presented figures in regard to the cost of higher education in Orange county.

"The Fullerton union high school is not in need of more buildings at present," Tuffree said. "If the times comes when we do, we can send back to Los Angeles county the students which are coming here from Puente. The same thing holds true in the junior college. Of a total of 461 students, 164 are from Fullerton, 97 from the district, 99 from the county but outside the district, and 95 from Los Angeles county."

"This 6-4-4 plan which they are trying to revive is just the same old girl in a different dress and Placentia's situation as far as building junior high schools with money from the union high school district is just this: Placentia has an assessed valuation of $14,685,235; Fullerton's valuation is $13,231,945; and Orange's, Buena Park and Yorba Linda share the balance of $10,106,830. Placentia paid $143,915.13 in tax money, Fullerton paid $129,673.06 and $99,046.93 came from the balance of the district. Of the total enrollment of 1186 pupils, 140 are from Placentia, making the cost of education for each pupil $1027.96 per year.

"Brea-Olinda, with an assessed valuation but little under that of Placentia, educated her 262 students at a cost of $497 per capita. Placentia also has the right to withdraw from the Fullerton Union district but I couldn't advise that change—it would be slaying the goose that lays the golden egg. The proper way to proceed before we start throwing little bricks into the present works is not to ask a body will open its Christmas seal drive after Thanksgiving. San Clemente's quota, according to Warner, is $400.

Money from the drive will be used in the upkeep of the children's health camp established in Santiago canyon.

SEEK FIRE TRUCK FOR MISSION CITY

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Nov. 19.—A movement sponsored by American Legion post No. 358, Capistrano Beach, led to a joint meeting of the post and San Juan Capistrano Chamber of Commerce yesterday. Resolutions asking the state fire warden for one of the new fire trucks which is to be allotted to Orange county, were passed. Legion and chamber members agreed to man the truck and to house it in a fire proof building. The chamber of commerce will buy 1000 feet of fire hose and a central fire alarm will be installed.

President Ralph Whitaker of the chamber of commerce appointed a committee of three to secure the truck, housing quarters and to make all other arrangements necessary to place fire protection in the community. The committee is composed of Alfred Guy, representing the chamber of commerce, Al Jiminez, of the Legion and Fred Strochheim, of the water company.

A membership will be taken by the chamber of commerce in the new Imperial Valley Highway association and a representative will sit on the board of the association.

ALASKA GOLD RUSH DAYS ARE RECALLED IN TALK BEFORE EXCHANGE CLUB OF NEWPORT

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 20.—Vivid stories of the halcyon days of Alaska's gold rush were told to members of the Newport Beach Exchange club yesterday by O. F. Kroehle, a "nusher" gold-miner, merchant and adventurer in the northern Eldorado 30 years ago, now a real estate and insurance man of the Newport harbor district.

The stern but assertedly even-handed justice of the days before regular law courts were set up might be a good thing for California even today, said Kroehle. Every man's word was as good as his bond, and a code of honor among the prospectors and others worked well.

Stories of how as much as $30,000 was at stake in one hand of poker, of how Kroehle himself dug $15,000 out of the sand near Nome in six weeks, of how the price of drinks multiplied when served to a girl companion of the male saloon customer, of how men "went nuts" over the beautiful girls who danced to the tunes of first-class orchestras and of other almost unbelievable stories of the great Northland kept the Exchange members in their seats past the allotted time.

Kroehle said that the "spell of the Yukon" gets into the blood of everybody who spends more than one season there, and that he himself would still go back if circumstances made it feasible. He claimed, however, that the Gifford-Pinchot, of the Roosevelt cabinet, and certain mining laws had made prospecting and other businesses there less attractive.

Steve Smith, Harry Hyde and Ray Saunders were named a committee of the club to look after the Newport Beach troop of Sea Scouts, which the club recently decided to sponsor.

PROGRAM FOR SHOW AT MESA IS COMPLETED

COSTA MESA, Nov. 20.—An elaborate program has been arranged for the benefit vaudeville show scheduled for Friday night at the Costa Mesa grammar school. The show will start at 7:30 o'clock. Proceeds will be used for beautifying Newport boulevard.

Featured on the program are dances in costume by a group of students from the Putnam studios, many of whom are local residents. A group of Japanese students from Talbert will portray two dances in native costume. The dancers will be Yimiko Tatsukawa, Chiko Aoki, Yasbie Yoshikawa, Yuriko Yanai, Kiyou Hotsukawa, Fumiko Nagamatsu, May Kanage and Mary Oka.

These include the "Collegiate Four," Avo Stovall, Dixie Chapman, Joseph Wilson, Harold Garland. A tap number "Pirouette" will be presented by Gwendolyn and Virginia Sweetman. An acrobatic duo number will be offered by Lorraine Buell. The women's chorus of Costa Mesa, directed by Mrs. Ruth McKensie, will sing two numbers. A series of impersonations will be staged by women of the Newport Tuesday Evening club. Mrs. Nellie Dyson and J. Turk will appear as Martha and George Washington.

Mrs. Emil Goepper and Mrs. Sara Bowman will portray Aunt Jemima and Topay. Mrs. W. W. Brown will appear as Sis Hopkins; Mrs. Sabra Blue as Theda Bara; Mrs. Stella Stiffler as the Magazine Girl; Ernest Armstrong will stage as Johnny Bull. Mrs. Nancy Marlow and Jack Summers will burlesque the desert scene from East Lynne. Mrs. George Garfield, accompanied by Mrs. Belle Greshner, will sing two mezzo soprano numbers, one of which is "Carmelita," written by Mrs. Margaret Burlingame and Vladimir Lenski. Vladimir Lenski, noted concert violinist, will contribute several selections. Miss Mary Mason, of Placentia, will give dramatic readings. A negro act which features a male quartet consisting of J. O. Tallman, J. Watkins, A. Pridham and Jack Summers will be given. Numbers by the Costa Mesa string quartet, directed by Bud Baker will conclude the program.

BEACH GROUPS STAGE SOCIAL FRIDAY NIGHT

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 20.—A joint social evening with the American Legion, the American Legion auxiliary and the J. W. McKenney Woman's Relief corps participating will be held at Legion hall Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Because the baseball club will give a dance on the same evening, an effort will be made to conclude the program in time so that those who wish may also attend the dance, taking in both entertainments.

The Relief corps will present an American flag to the Legion with appropriate ceremonies. The program to be given consists of the following numbers:

"The Fatal Ring," a play by Ida Harris, given for the eighth time by the cast, with John Martiner, Dan Grant, Chris Valente, Stella and Ida Harris taking parts in the riotous farce.

Gilbert Wilson will sing the flag song, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson. Though Mr. Wilson has earned a wide reputation as a singer and musician and has lived here for more than a year, he has not sung here very much. He is a member of the Legion.

Mrs. Betty Ritchey will sing, "All For You." Dan Grant accompanied. Halmar Forrest will give a tap dance and a waltz clog, without music.

The general public is invited, no admission.

Apartment Started In Beach City

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 20.—Earl Lee, of Corona, is building a five-apartment building at Central avenue and Tenth street. This is the extreme east end of El Bazo Balboa tract, subdivided this year by Otto G. Wildey and company, of Los Angeles.

F. W. Potter, of Pomona, is building a residence on Balboa peninsula, close to the two houses now nearing completion for Industrial Properties Inc. of Los Angeles. A. B. Roussele, of Santa Ana, is building a dwelling for his own use on the Peninsula tract.

LIGHTWEIGHTS PROMISE HARD BOUT AT DELHI

To varying extends all successful coaches employ psychology. Smart mentors capitalize on every psychological opportunity that offers itself, bending reasons to suit needs.

Football may be a hard game but there is a place in it somewhere for sentiment and emotion and "mental suggestion."

Rockne, for instance, has his wheel-chair. They say that gag beat the Trojans in Chicago last year. Jones had his "dumb team" which, when Jones got through, wasn't as dumb as "Pop" Warner.

But it takes Ben Carpenter, the Anaheim high school mentor, to manufacture the real strategy, week after week without a miss.

For three days before the Anaheim-Orange game, Coach Carpenter ordered his warriors to devour three oranges with each meal.

"Just to remember the Orange," tersely remarked the head man. During practice before the scrum with Brea-Olinda, Carpenter frequently brought on the field a strange mixture of mud and sawdust, a combination not unfamiliar in all fields.

"Just to remember Brea-Olinda," said Carpenter.

There was some backfire to the colonel counselor's strategy prior to the Garden Grove combat.

For three days before the skirmish with the Chilpeppers Carpenter made his men wear round their necks a string to which was attached a chilipepper.

"Just to remember Garden Grove," bespoke Carpenter.

Most of the Anaheim players did not forget Garden Grove, or at least their chilipeppers.

They wore them under their jerseys and they weren't in action long before the chilipeppers were smashed to smithereens. Seeds from these "vegetables" scattered to all parts of the anatomy.

The Anaheim athletes agreed unanimously that the contest with the Chilpeppers was hotter in more ways than one.

SINGE MY SIDEBURNS!

Santa Ana junior college football men may go to the post against Fullerton freshly shaved and trimmed, but not Fullerton. The Yellowjackets want their whiskers rough and tough, the older the better.

Nobody much took Fullerton students seriously when they banded together and vowed they ne'er would shave until the despicable Don of Santa Ana was crushed underfoot, and made to pay for the defeat which last year cost them the conference championship.

Six long weeks have passed, however, and Fullerton razors are still as sharp as Texas Guinan's wisecracks.

They aren't shaving in Fullerton, that's all.

The Dons may expect the old Dutch rub Saturday-week when they hit the high spots with the Swam.

Even the Fullerton players have gone in for the hirsute adornment.

Chief among the barberless band is Kermit Wood, ace back.

"These whiskers are the real McCoy," says Wood. "If I'm going in there and roll up the touchdowns, I've got to have the old beard bending in the breeze. No whiskers, no touchdowns."

TWIN VERSUS TWIN

Twin brothers will be on opposing teams when Fullerton jaycee meets Tempe State Teachers college of Tempe, Ariz. at Fullerton Saturday.

Bob Hezmalhalch, one of those fellows with a name that drives the typesetters to commit harakiri, plays guard for Tempe. His twin brother, "Chill," will be in the Fullerton lineup, at fullback.

The Tempe team is coached by Ted Shipkey, former Fullerton and Stanford football star.

REMEMBER WHEN?

A. E. Hawley is dead. He was a mighty fine sportsman—and man.

The words aren't always synonymous. They are in this case. Mr. Hawley did as much for baseball in this community as anyone.

Years ago he gave Santa Ana the best winter ball there was to be had in Southern California. Fans used to come here from as far away as Los Angeles to see the games out at "Hawley Park" and that was in the days when it was a whole day's trip to make Los Angeles.

Mr. Hawley's pitcher in 1905-6-7 was Walter Johnson, an Orange county boy who was just blossoming out as the greatest moundsman of all time.

Johnson received about $5 a game for his services here. That was pretty good "side money" in those days at that.

"Chick" Gandil, Guy Meats, "Rube" Ellis, Dave Altizer, "Dutch" Henrichs, Dick Breen, "Brownie" West, Jesse Robinson, Anson Mott and Clair and Roy Head were some of Johnson's teammates in those good old days. Ed Crotte managed the club.

Dartmouth's Squad Of 38 Coming West

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 20.—(INS)—Coach Jack Gannell today decided to take 38 Dartmouth players with him tomorrow, when the big Green football special departs for Palo Alto, Calif., where a week from Saturday Stanford will meet the White Indians.

A stop will be made Saturday afternoon in Chicago, and a workout is slated for the Oak Park field. Sunday and Monday will be spent on the train, except for occasional stops for light exercise.

The team is due in San Francisco Tuesday morning. Headquarters will be in San Mateo, and practice will be held daily at Stanford stadium.

The Green will have four days to get accustomed to the warm temperature.

KIRKWOOD OFF TROJAN TEAM: ADMITS GUILT

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 20.—(UP)—The Pacific Coast conference, just quieting down after two weeks of word battles, was thrown into another turmoil today through the action of the University of Southern California in expelling Spencer Kirkwood Purvis.

The youth, a speedy halfback, was dropped from the student and football roster when he admitted that he gained entrance to the university on false certificates and under the spurious name of George Kirkwood.

Anticipating, perhaps, that new charges against Southern California might follow the expulsion of Purvis, Warren Bovard, vice president of U. S. C., said in a formal statement that the action "will be interpreted to whatever ends our enemies choose."

Played at Tacoma College. Earlier this week accusations of "subsidizing athletes" and "scholarship irregularities" were made against Southern California.

A signed statement Purvis admitted that he played the seasons of 1927 and 1928 on the varsity of the College of Puget Sound, Tacoma, Wash.

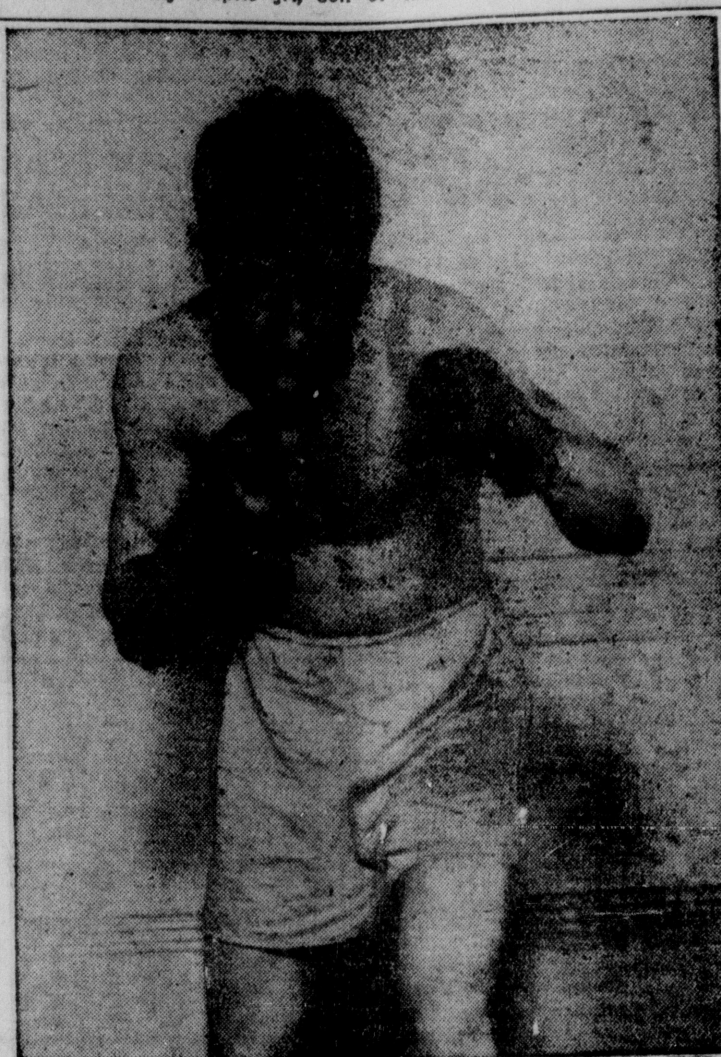

He withdrew from the northern institution early in 1929, he said, and entered U. S. C. The fall of that same year "through no solicitation" and under the name of George Kirkwood and on credentials purportedly signed by Frank Brooks, principal of the Sumner, Wash., high school.

Southern California officials said

MAX SCHMELING RETURNS TO AMERICA IN DECEMBER-BUT TO ACT IN FILMS, NOT BOX

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Max Schmeling, world's heavyweight champion, is coming back to the U. S. A. in December—but NOT to fight.

Schmeling is returning to pick up a little easy money on his title. According to word from Germany he has signed a contract with a Hollywood film agency which, it is said, will add about $250,000 to Max's bank account. Not bad.

Max will do no serious fighting until next June when he will defend his title against whoever happens to be the outstanding challenger at that time—Young Stribling, Jack Sharkey, Victorio Campolo or even Primo Carners.

Schmeling's program calls for a little ping-pong playing at Berlin's sports palace in November. Max is adept at this game and inasmuch as the Berlin public likes to pay him homage, Max will oblige November 5 by demonstrating his skill as a ping-pong performer in a doubles match. Franz Diener, the German fighter, will be one of his opponents.

Max will sail for the United States in the middle of December and will spend Christmas in Hollywood. He will spend most of January facing the camera beneath the klieg lights.

After the picture is finished, Max will start after more easy money. His manager, Joe Jacobs, believes in getting the money while the getting is good. Schmeling will be taken on a three-month exhibition tour through the Southern states.

Schmeling will rest about a month after he completes this tour. And then—about the middle of May—he will begin training for a big out-bout in June in defense of his title.

The identity of the man who will oppose Schmeling in the big fight will not become known until early next year, however. The winner of the annual heavyweight fight in

SAINTS DRILL FOR FULLERTON CONTEST

Coach "Tex" Oliver's Santa Ana high school Saints were back in training today for their Thanksgiving day fight at Poly field with their one-time warmest rival—Fullerton.

Oliver did not conduct practice either Monday or Tuesday, giving his henchmen plenty of time to regain their composure after their defeat by Long Beach which eliminated the Saints from the Coast Preparatory league race.

Workouts will be held daily between now and Thursday-week, however, when the team closes its regular season.

The Saints came through the Long Beach tussle in good shape. It is doubtful, however, whether Garth Olsen, the running guard who was hurt in the Glendale contest, will be able to play against Fullerton.

GAELS PONDER BID FOR GAME WITH TROJANS

MORAGA, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Football fans and those interested in relieving the west coast's unemployment situation were welded together today in the fond hope that the proposed St. Mary's-University of Southern California game, planned for December 20, could be successfully arranged.

A wire was dispatched from here by L. F. Lefebvre, graduate manager of St. Mary's, to Willis Hunter, athletic director of U.S.C., that indicated such a game was a probability.

"Many thanks for your invitation," the telegram read. "Assure you the board of athletic control will give your invitation earnest consideration. Mr. Madigan (Coach 'Slip' Madigan) does not return from New York until Friday and if possible I would like time to confer with him before answering definitely."

Civic Leaders Confer. The invitation was sent to St. Mary's after a conference in Los Angeles attended by Mayor John Porter, Rufus B. Von KleinSmid, president of U.S.C., and civic leaders.

Dr. Von KleinSmid pointed out that post-season games were against the policy of the university but that the proposed contest would come under the heading of an "emergency act."

The fund to be derived from the game will not go to any organized charity but directly to the benefit of the unemployed, Von KleinSmid said.

Shortly after the invitation was sent to St. Mary's the management of the Los Angeles Coliseum announced that the structure will be donated for the game without charge.

Gaels Hurrying Home. The Gaels arrived in Ogden, Utah, this morning on their way home from New York. Coach Madigan told a United Press correspondent who met him at the train that he cannot act until he consults with the President of St. Mary's, the faculty and members of the athletic board.

It was intimated by Madigan that a conference would be held immediately after the team reaches home.

Madigan admitted he would prefer playing a post-season game in the hay district. In this connection, it may be pointed out, that St. Mary's already has an option on Kezar field, San Francisco, for December 13 for a proposed post-season game. This phase of the

SPARTANS NEAR PEAK FOR TILT HERE SATURDAY

Coach Ferris Scott's Julia C. Lathrop junior high school varsity football squad jogged through a light workout yesterday in preparation for its game here Saturday with the Rialto junior high school from San Bernardino.

Most of the time was spent in polishing up the Lathrop passing attack which hasn't functioned as it should all this season.

The game with Rialto will be played at Poly field and will begin at 2:15 p. m.

The Lathrop inter-mural teams were out en masse yesterday in preparation for the series of inter-mural football games that will start next Tuesday. There are 10 different teams practicing and more than 130 boys will take part in the playoffs. Varsity team members are not allowed to compete in these games but are assisting in the coaching.

The Lathrop 100-pound football team is working hard this week getting ready for its last game of the season, which is to be played with the Garden Grove high school "Cees" Friday. Coach Ewel has a light but fast little team this year.

OREGON STATE GRID SQUAD REACHES L. A.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 20.—The Oregon State college football squad numbering 35 men, arrived here today from Eugene to prepare for its game in the Coliseum tomorrow night with the University of California at Los Angeles.

The Beavers are a decided favorite over the Bruins since they upset the previously undefeated University of Oregon last week. Coach Paul Schissler's men will work out under the Coliseum lights tonight to learn the feel of the field.

Chicago Wants Stribling, Griffith Match

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Efforts to match Young Stribling and "Tuffy" Griffith for a charity fund benefit fight at Chicago stadium were resumed today by Matchmaker Nate Lewis.

The Georgia heavyweight and his father-manager are scheduled to arrive tomorrow for a conference with Lewis.

Stribling has signed to meet any opponent selected. Lewis offered the bout to Griffith, Paulino Uzcudun, Jimmy Maloney and Jack Sharkey. Paulino and Sharkey neglected to answer, although the offer to Sharkey carried a $50,000 guarantee. Maloney refused the match. Griffith has been "considering the offer for two weeks."

Both will go into retirement tonight, the Cardinals at the Family Club, San Francisco, the Bears at Castledown Country club, Alameda county; both to loaf until Saturday, when they will form the van of a crowd of 80,000 who will begin making the lives of ferry hands and train crews hideous at noon.

Taking the crop of hot feedback tips with a bushel of salt it looks as though it will still be a "Big Game" worthy of that occasion's best traditions. Depend on it, if Stanford has an edge—and there are many who doubt it—the Bears intend to try their hardest to white tie it down.

'One of Those Games' It is one of those games. As a proof of what can happen, one only needs to recall last year, when an inspired California team had gone to Los Angeles and taken U. S. C., 15-7, after the Trojans had licked Stanford. Then Stanford went to Seattle and barely emerged a 6-0 winner over Washington, the conference doormat. Then the deluge—21-6, Stanford, in the "Big Game."

As to the rumors, one hears— "from an authoritative source"—that Schaldach, Gill, Griffiths and Kirwan are really in great shape and have been using synthetic limbs for the past week; that Schaldach, Gill, Griffiths and Kirwan are really suffering from amputated legs and are in there ready to do their all with corn replacements; that Price is going to abandon all thought of a passing attack, depending on a strong line to push the Card forwards on their haunches and open things up for some straight football; that, to the contrary, Price is cooking up a quadruple forward-backward-lateral pass, cutback and spinner that ends in a dropkick.

What Is Heard One hears that two California guards are down with beri beri and that Price perforce will use an editor of the Daily Californian and a hirsute co-ed in their places; that Warner will stick to his formation "A," disregarding "C," that Warner has pronounced "A" a relic of the Kerr or stone age and will use "C" exclusively; that Warner so loves them both as to be torn between them and has settled on a shift of leapfrog marriage, of both—"A" to "C" with balanced wings, oyster stuffing and cranberry sauce.

Several encouraging factors seem assured: Good weather, crisp and dry; upwards of 80,000 uproarious customers and a hard fought contest that, because of heavy trouncing both teams have suffered, will call for an inspired comeback on the part of the winner.

DRIGGS FAMILY GIVES PROGRAM ON WEDNESDAY

ORANGE, Nov. 20.—The Driggs family presented a program of musical selections and readings at the Christian church last night.

The stage was arranged as a living room. The time was a holiday with Mr. Driggs and the seven children all at home. The program was the entertainment the family was able to give at home.

The opening number was a piano, "What Should I Do With a Holiday?" by Mr. Driggs followed by another by Mrs. Driggs answering the question. Three daughters rendered Spanish selections, "Spanish Bandolero," selections from the opera, "Carmen" and "Matilda Dance." Two Indian selections followed, "Indian Dawn" and "Sweet Mystery of Life." Miss Alice gave a reading, "Billy Brad," with an encore, "Perfidious." Miss Maxine gave a violin selection, "Fair Rosemarin." Yvonne, the youngest daughter, gave three monologues, "Chinese," "American Girl" and "At the Movies."

Orchestra music interspersed the program. "Negro Exhortation" was a sermon by Mr. Driggs. The trio of girls gave three banjo selections, "I Love You," "Bye and Bye" and "Blue Moon."

A melody of late hits and popular songs followed. Billy, the youngest, gave "Fussy, Wussy Bird" and nursery rhymes. Yvonne gave the "Story Book Ball." The program closed with a good night song. The program was sponsored by the Loyal Women's class of the Christian church.

JUDGE DRUMM GIVES ADDRESS ON PATRIOTISM

ORANGE, Nov. 20.—Judge Frank Drumm, of Santa Ana, was the speaker at the regular meeting of the Lions club here yesterday, having as his subject, "Peace Time Patriotism."

The average American citizen associates patriotism with war. Judge Drumm said. Pointing out various ways in which peace time patriotism could be practiced, the speaker declared that in time of war every energy of the country is bent toward the destruction of other nations and that in time of peace every energy of the nation should be bent toward a constructive program.

"After election to office, men should forget party affiliations and work for good of the nation," Judge Drumm said. "I believe that no man has occupied the presidential chair for the past several years, who has put forth as much effort to bring back prosperity as has Hoover. If each one of us would put forth a one-hundredth part of the energy put forth by Hoover toward creating prosperity, we would bring it back to normal in 30 days."

In recalling the panic of 1907, Judge Drumm pointed out that at that time, when no money could be drawn from the banks, officials of the cities, counties and states were not doing what they are today to bring back prosperity.

A difficulty in enforcing the prohibition law is that men and women regarded as among the highest in the community are lax about enforcing it. It is not important that we believe a law to be right or just, but it is important that we as American citizens abide by it," he said.

Taxes in other countries were declared to be greatly in excess of those here.

Coach Stewart White of the Orange union high school announced the game to be played between Brea and Orange Friday and a report of the dinner dance committee in charge of the arrangements for the dinner dance on December 12 was made.

Hal Sackett was program chairman and Dr. W. M. Tipple was introduced as a new member. Captain Reddell of the ordinance corps of San Francisco, who is making an inspection of the National guard company of this city, was introduced. Other guests were George Baker, of Santa Ana, and Captain Field, of San Francisco.

MRS. HAROLD NELSON IS BRIDGE HOSTESS

ORANGE, Nov. 20.—Mrs. Harold Nelson was hostess this week at an evening bridge party at the Nelson home at 817 East Palm street, when Mrs. Jack Lampert, a fall bride, was the guest of honor. Mrs. Nelson used quantities of chrysanthemums in shades of yellow in her decorations for the rooms and carried out the same vivid tones in the bridge tables and in appointments for the refreshment tables.

The pleasant affair provided a delightful opportunity for Mrs. Lampert to meet a group of young matrons of the city and after the game she was presented with an attractive guest prize while prizes for first and second high scores went to Mrs. John Fouch and Mrs. Paul Muench.

Those present with the honor guest and the hostess were Mesdames Herbert Batterman, Albert Benson, John Fouch, Hal Sackett, Ansel Nordsen, Lyle Richards, Thomas Cave, Paul Muench, Wilbur Lents and Beryl Wing.

EASIER WORK BETTER CROPS BIGGER PROFITS

When You Farm with CATERPILLAR TRACTORS

Why the Work Is Easier

"CATERPILLAR" Tractors have taken the drudgery out of farm work. The roomy, well-upholstered seat makes riding a "Caterpillar" enjoyable—no matter how tough the going is. The ease of handling, the fingertip steering, the quick responsiveness and the certainty with which you can make a "Caterpillar" do just what you want it to do, are additional reasons why your work is not only done much easier but also much better when you use a "Caterpillar".

Why Crops Are Better

"CATERPILLAR" Tractors help you get large crops of improved quality because they DO NOT PACK YOUR LAND. You know, of course, that soil packing robs your soil of precious moisture and prevents your crops from getting the full growth they should. This is avoided by the wide, efficient tracks of the "Caterpillar", which distribute the weight over so much area that your tractor doesn't press down the land as much as your own foot would.

Another reason why "CATERPILLAR" Tractors and record-breaking crops go together is that they enable you to cultivate deeper without slippage. With a "Caterpillar" you can get on the land right after you irrigate, so that your cultivating is done just at the time it will do the most good.

Why Profits Are Bigger

"CATERPILLAR" Tractors will increase your profits because they are incomparably economical to own, operate and maintain. "CATERPILLAR" sure-footedness prevents slippage, thus saving both time and fuel. Tracks and other parts that bear the brunt of gruelling wear are built to stand up for unbelievable periods. When you own a "CATERPILLAR" in this territory, Shepherd's famous super-service is always available just when, where and how you need it.

KREG OFFERS NEW CHANCE TO WIN BOOK REVIEW PRIZES ON BROADCAST FRIDAY MORNING

Another chance to win prizes in the KREG book review race was announced today. It is a race and not a contest, primarily, because the winners are likely to be those who get to their telephones first after listening to the book review to be broadcast at 10:45 a. m. tomorrow, by Mary Burke King.

The first three persons who phoned in after the review and tell enough about it to prove they have heard it over KREG will receive prizes of late books. All that is necessary to win a prize is to get to the phone before other "runners" and call in your report. The book to be reviewed tomorrow is "Button Hill," by Gordon Stowell.

For the convenience of those in the race, two phones will be available at KREG for receiving calls tomorrow. If you can't "check in" through 4900, call 2817. Both telephone numbers will be figurative finish lines for the race.

Winners in the race on Monday were Mrs. Herbert Carter, 3124 West Sixth street; Mrs. H. O. Parks, 964 Lowell street; and Mrs. Pearl Adams, 615 North Parton street.

So many other calls were directed at KREG immediately after the review on Wednesday that another telephone was designated to receive calls.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, Nov. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. Nell Weddle, brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Robert Walker, and their sons, Raymond and Max Weddle, of Long Beach, were entertained as dinner guests by Mr. and Mrs. Walker and joining the company in the afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Middleton and daughter, Virginia Middleton, former Long Beach neighbors of the Walkers, who now reside in Anaheim.

D. D. Campbell, who recently went north to look for a location to open farming operations, has leased land near Williams, Calif. Mrs. Campbell and son and daughter contemplate motoring to Williams to spend Christmas with him.

Final plans for the giving of the Parent-Teacher association fathers' banquet were arranged Tuesday afternoon, when the business meeting took the place of the study circle program which was given up when only eight of the members attended the meeting, due to the inclemency of the weather.

The banquet will be given in the Westminster church hall and all members of the local P-T-A. and their families are invited to attend. The pot-luck dinner which had previously been proposed was abandoned in preference to a regular dinner which will be paid for from the P-T-A. treasury.

The banquet will be held the evening of December 1, which is the regular P-T-A. monthly meeting night. Mrs. Ned Clinton, vice president of the organization, will be in charge of the program of the evening.

Mrs. Johansen, who has been absent from her room of the Westminster school, the second grade, returned Wednesday. Mrs. Johansen was injured in an automobile accident and has been confined to her home since. Mrs. James Monroe has been substituting as class teacher in Mrs. Johansen's absence.

Mrs. Linna Loomis is having her residence improved with a new coat of paint.

Elizabeth Reeves Hubbard will add to the excellence of tonight's program, entertaining from 7:30 to 8 p. m. Another popular feature will be the all request program of late phonograph records, from 9 to 10 p. m., while the 4-H club boys will be heard from 7 to 7:15 p. m.

Eczema Affected Hands, Arms and Neck. Healed by Cuticura.
"Eczema broke out in a rash and affected my hands, arms and neck. It caused eruptions that scaled over, and the affected parts were red and sore. My clothing aggravated the breaking out on my arms so that I tried bandaging them, but I could not stand the bandages. I could not sleep half of the night on account of the trouble, which lasted about ten months.
"I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and purchased more and in about a month I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Pauline Honest, Doretta, New Mexico, April 5, 1930.

Program Announced For Wier Dedication Ceremonies

ORANGE COUNTY MEN SCHEDULED TO GIVE TALKS

Three Orange county men are on the program in connection with dedication of the Santa Ana river diversion weir which is scheduled for 11 a. m. tomorrow at the weir site at the mouth of the upper canyon near San Bernardino. They are John Mitchell, member of the board of supervisors, Lotus Lowden, of Anaheim, and Paul Bailey, engineer, of Santa Ana.

The exercises will be followed by a luncheon, after which an opportunity will be given to make a tour of the dam site, conduits and spreading grounds. The ceremony also will combine observance of the 20th anniversary of the work of the Water Conservation association, which is behind the project, and which was organized in 1910.

Frank F. Merriam, of Long Beach, recently elected lieutenant governor, will make the dedicatory address and will deposit in a receptacle in the weir records pertaining to the work of the association and other objects that may be of interest to future generations. Among other interesting things that will go into the box will be pictures of the modern automobile, radio, electric refrigerator and a tractor. A record of the production of the three interested counties, Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino, also will be included.

Francis Cuttle, of Riverside, president of the Water Conservation association, will preside at the meeting. The program for the event is as follows: "The Structure and Its Use," by Paul Bailey, engineer for the project and former engineer of the Orange county flood control district; "Participation by Orange County in this and Other Flood Control Work," by John C. Mitchell, member of the board of supervisors of Orange county; "San Bernardino County's Part," by C. E. Grier, chairman of the board of supervisors of San Bernardino county; "Participation by Riverside County," by J. E. McGregor, member of the board of supervisors from Riverside county; Lotus Lowden, Anaheim publisher, will speak for the public press; Ralph E. Swing will speak on "The Part of the Legislature in a Co-ordinated State Water Program;" and the dedicatory address by Senator Merriam.

A large delegation from Orange county is planning to be present at the affair.

CLUB COUNCIL AT POLY HIGH ELECTS HEADS

The boys' interclub council, consisting of two representatives from each of the four clubs which recently have been organized on the Santa Ana High school campus, held its initial meeting Monday, organizing and laying plans for the coming year.

Miner Whitford, of the Owl club, and Gene Hall, of Phillos club, were named president and secretary-treasurer respectively. It was decided that Bill Friend, president of the student body, would act as a judge between the clubs in the name of the entire student body. This council will carry full power of decision of policy, course of action and discipline of the various clubs.

The idea of having some Santa Ana service club sponsor the clubs was definitely dropped. It was decided that a majority of the clubs will constitute a quorum. L. Crawford, instructor, announced that he plans to make citizenship and scholarship reports every quarter pertaining to all the members of each of the clubs. This will create competition between the clubs and raise the scholarship average, he said. In the future the council will meet every other Monday.

LOST PLANE FOUND

All that remains of the Boeing mail and passenger plane in which a girl and two men were killed when the ship crashed in the mountains eight miles north of Antelope, Calif. The wrecked plane was found late Wednesday after a two-day hunt conducted by 40 airplanes and scores of searchers. According to rescuers who reached the scene of the accident, all three occupants of the plane were killed instantly. Pilot Flavius A. Donaldson was found dead in his cockpit, while the bodies of Miss Jean Markow and George Rogers, the two passengers, had been thrown clear of the wreck.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS MADE BY DETENTION HOME CHILDREN ON DISPLAY IN SANTA ANA

Coming at a time when the mind turns naturally to Christmas and its universal cry, "What shall I give?" is the autumn showing of hand-made articles which young people at the Detention home have placed at 425 North Sycamore street. For among the varied articles made so carefully by these patient children, may be found many answers to that cry.

It has been several years since Mrs. Arthur Dawson and Mrs. May Cuddeback, matrons at the home, first conceived the plan of teaching needlework to their young charges, as a part of the wholesome influence of this 24-hour-a-day school. Results are all that heart could wish, and the young girls of the home were eager to learn the simple stitches taught them. The articles they made proved so pleasing, that Mrs. Dawson and Mrs. Cuddeback placed them on sale, with the co-operation of F. C. Blauer, who gives them ample display space and attends to all sales with absolutely no profit to himself in any way beyond the consciousness of doing a kindly deed.

The present collection includes a wide variety of household linens, the young girls having devoted much time to embroidering pretty dresser scarfs, towels and pillow cases. Pillows too may be found in variety, from simple patchwork to more elaborate embroidered and silk ones.

Aprons are colorful and well designed, and range from frivolous little tea aprons to capacious ones warranted to protect the dress of the busiest housewife as she hurries to prepare her Thanksgiving or Christmas dinner.

GERRARDS BACK FROM JOURNEY THROUGH EAST

A. W. Gerrard, one of the officials of the Alpha Beta Food stores, who accompanied by his wife, has made a 10,000 mile trip through Canada and the East, has returned to his home in Santa Ana this week after an absence of nine weeks. The trip was made by railway to Vancouver, Winnipeg, Goderich, Can., and Chicago to Toledo, where a new auto was purchased to carry them on the rest of the journey.

Conditions throughout the Middle West are fairly good, Gerrard reports, although hard times are evident everywhere, including Canada. The market operator visited his old home in Goderich, Can., which he had not seen in 43 years, spending some time there renewing acquaintances with old schoolmates and friends. Relatives of Mrs. Gerrard were visited in Winnipeg.

The trip carried them from Toledo through Canada to the eastern seaboard, where New York and other coast cities were visited on the way to Washington, D. C., where they attended the national and world convention of the Christian church. They started the homeward journey on October 24, coming via Columbus, Ohio, Memphis, Little Rock, Tucson and Phoenix. Roads were in fine shape through out the entire trip, Gerrard reported, and no mud was encountered at any point during the 10,000 mile jaunt.

Hard times were particularly evident in the cotton country of Arkansas and Oklahoma, he reported, where there is only about a half crop and half price for that. Conditions in northern Texas are looked good, he stated, with some of the biggest oil fields in the world and great wheat fields.

BANKERS TO ATTEND CONCLAVE SATURDAY

Santa Ana banking institutions will be well represented at the fall meeting of the southern counties' group of the California Bankers association, to be held next Saturday at Arrowhead Hot springs hotel, San Bernardino. Inquiries revealed today. Among those who are planning to attend are W. B. Williams and E. B. Sprague, of the First National bank; Alex. Brownridge, of the Farmers and Merchants Savings bank; Charles L. Cotant, of the Santa Ana branch of the Bank of Italy; and Frank Was, of the Santa Ana branch of the Security First National bank of Los Angeles.

Listed on the program is Harvey Fish, of the First National bank of Santa Ana, who will read a paper on "My Bank and My Job," which was selected from a total of 30 papers submitted by junior bank officials.

AGENT REPORTS COTTON FIELDS NEED PICKERS

Five hundred families are needed to pick cotton in the San Joaquin valley, it was declared here today by Joseph G. Rose Jr., special agent of the United States department of labor.

Families desiring to work in the cotton fields should visit the office of J. H. Fallin, superintendent of the United States department of labor's employment service at 901 North Alameda street, Los Angeles, Rose said. The employment office applies to families and not to individuals, Rose stated.

The families must provide their own transportation. While some of the cotton growers provide shelter, others do not and the families must be able to furnish their own shelter.

It is estimated that the cotton picking will extend to February 15. The families may go at any time, Rose said.

The special agent is making a survey of labor conditions in Orange county at the present time, working out of the Los Angeles office.

S.A.V.I. Company Prepares to Drill New River Well

ORANGE, Nov. 20.—The S. A. V. I. company is making tests for water in the Santa Ana river and a new well is to be drilled, according to O. E. Mansur, secretary of the company. The company has never employed "water witches" in locating its 15 wells, Mansur states, drilling being determined entirely by the land formations and past results in drilling.

The last well drilled was 800 feet deep and it is expected that the present well will be drilled to a depth of 1000 feet.

BEAUTY and COMFORT
with DENTAL PLATES

Beauty in dental plates depends upon harmony between face form and tooth form, as well as upon the form and shading of the teeth considered alone.

Restorations are most pleasing when the artificial teeth are like the remaining teeth in form, proportion and shading.

The plates we make produce this harmony of face and teeth and are designed to masticate food thoroughly and impart greatest stability and comfort.

Youthful Bride Feted At Kitchen Shower In Carney Home

A host of friends are making post-nuptial days for Mrs. Dale Park, (Juanita Ahern) especially delightful, and among these is Miss Evelyn Carney who entertained in her home on East Seventeenth street. The affair was a kitchen shower, and many were the charming utensils presented the bride of a week's standing.

Games and contests occupied the early evening hours, and prize awards went to Miss June Spray, who scored high and to Miss Margaret Files for low score. An appetizing supper followed, and was served at a smartly appointed table featuring fall colors not only in the clusters of flowers, but in the frilly table cloth and napkins bearing delicate blossom designs.

Delta Tau Sorority Presided at Smart Progressive Dinner

Charming in every detail was a progressive dinner party of last evening shared by Delta Tau sorority girls and their guests. Lavender and green, the chapter colors, featured appointments at each of the homes where the appetizing courses were served.

The home of Miss De Lois Johnson at 1247 South Parton street, was the setting for the delectable cocktail course, and adjourning to the home of Miss Ramona Gilbert on Cypress avenue, a colorful salad was enjoyed. Equally tempting was the main course served with Miss Frances Parks as hostess in her home at 509 West Fifth street.

Dessert was not so easy to attain, as it was served in the home of Miss Virginia Wylie in Cypress, some distance from here. A social time followed, and adjourning to the Rendezvous ballroom in Balboa, the dinner concluded the evening with dancing.

The hostesses group included the Misses De Lois Johnson, Francis Parks, Pauline Parks, Iris Johnson, Virginia Wylie, Ramona Gilbert and Evelyn Carney. Guests were the Misses Marjorie Burns, Beth Collar, Lucille Heyden, Helen Wiebe, "Blackie" Darnley and Herta Schwartz.

Mrs. Hershel Musick Was Incentive For Lovely Shower

One of the prettiest parties of the week was that given Tuesday night when Mrs. R. O. Metz was hostess in her home on Maple avenue, entertaining in honor of Mrs. Hershel Musick. Yellow was the chosen color scheme of the evening, and was evidenced in the floral decorations and in the delectable refreshment course which was served at a late hour.

Cootie was the game of the evening, at the conclusion of which Mrs. Musick was awarded a lovely gift as high scorer. She was then showered with a number of prettily wrapped packages.

Those sharing Mrs. Metz's hospitality other than the honoree, Mrs. Musick were Mesdames O. Lumley, W. A. Smith, C. P. Pevehouse, L. J. Osborne, Mary E. The coffee cup which has been selected as the regular prize of the club, was presented to Mrs. Cassius Paul who held high score. To Mrs. Don Andrews was presented the guest prize which, divested of wrappings, was revealed as an attractive deck of cards. Mrs. Berle Morthland and Mrs. Howard Rapp were other guests. Spanish Traveler Was Presented Before Cervantes Club

Senor Lizaso, of the republic of Colombia in South America, was an interesting speaker at last night's informal meeting of the Cervantes club of Santa Ana junior college, held in the Y. hut on the campus. Members of this Spanish club felt privileged indeed to entertain Senor Lizaso, who is in the United States to familiarize himself with the English language. His short address was in his mother tongue, and he told of customs and activities in his country, and also spoke of the importance of a knowledge of Spanish, to people of the English speaking races.

In his travels in this country, Senor Lizaso is accompanied by an American friend. At last night's meeting he very obligingly answered any questions put to him in Spanish.

Completing the program for the evening were popular songs sung in Spanish and led by Miss Dorothy Fox and Miss Lucille Crone and a general debate on the question of whether or not Spaniards are more courteous than Americans.

"Spaniards" present were Mrs. Ruth McNeil, Miss Agnes McKinty, Miss Lois Read, Miss Lucille Crone, Miss Betty Maloney, Miss Dorothy Fox, Jean McCoy, Gene Edwards, Erich Rehnau, Harvey Anderson, Bob Kirk, Horace Berry and Miss Mary Swass, club advisor.

In the bridge games of the evening, the prizes for high scores were awarded to Mrs. James W. Dickson and Frank Hoffman.

Those enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Swarthout were Mesdames and Mesdames Harold Carnahan, James W. Dickson and Frank Hoffman.

Moroni Olsen as John Thurlow in "The Ship"—Moroni Olsen players

Members of "The Ship" Company to Be Honor Guests at Tea

Everything is being made ready at Ebbl clubhouse today, for the presentation of "The Ship" by St. John Irvine, on the auditorium stage tomorrow night and Saturday night, and Ebbl society members as sponsors of the double event, are anticipating well-filled houses for each of the two performances. The Moroni Olsen Repertory company which is presenting the drama, comes so highly recommended by all who have been privileged to see one of the productions, that interest in the event is doubled.

As a special compliment to members of the cast, Mrs. Robert G. Thullish, Ebbl president, and her clubwomen are presiding at an informal tea Saturday afternoon, offering the interested clubwomen and friends an opportunity to meet members of the cast, who are said to be unusually charming and interesting people. Several of the cast have had wide dramatic experience on the professional stage, while others had most of their stage training in college work or little theater groups.

The current tour of the Moroni Olsen Players, has been announced as the final one before retiring from a field which bears an admirable record of splendid achievements. For in the seven years of its existence, this repertory company has achieved many worthwhile things for communities in which it has appeared. Play-ground equipment has been purchased, library funds founded, drinking fountains installed, together with various other civic enterprises made possible through offering the Players to the different communities. Ebbl society will use the proceeds from the plays here, to carry on some of its civic work, not the least of which is the maintenance of a clubhouse which is the pride of the community, as expressing the progressiveness of the women of the city.

In their farewell tour this year, the Players will tour eight states of the north and west, and are booked to appear in practically 100 cities. The company had planned to disband at the close of the 1928-29 season, but cities in which plays had been given, protested so vigorously, that members consented to add one more season, the current one, and present "The Ship" as their contribution to their public.

The curtain will rise tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock, and the same hour will prevail at the final performance on Saturday night.

Current Events Group Enjoyed Delectable Spanish Luncheon
Members of the First Current Events section of Ebbl society enjoyed a delectable Spanish luncheon Tuesday afternoon when they met in the clubhouse. Mrs. Hugh Shields and Mrs. John Kettler were hostesses.

Tables were charmingly decorated in Spanish fashion and colors, while clusters of winter flowers formed a floral setting for the affair. A short business session preceded the social afternoon, and was presided over by the leader, Mrs. Clyde Jenken.

Bridge was enjoyed in the afternoon. Special guests were Mrs. Edwin Van Meter and Miss Marguerite Hiskey. About 20 members were present.

Fraternity Chapters Will Be Dance Hosts

Planned as a forerunner of Thanksgiving is the Alpha Alpha chapter of Phi Sigma and Beta Delta chapter of Kappa Alpha Pi dance to be given tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock in the Rendezvous ballroom. Invitations have been issued for the affair which will be informal, and promises to be one of the season's most enjoyable dances.

That well-known combination, Brick English and his music, will be on hand to provide the snappiest of popular numbers. Committee chairmen have completed plans for the dance, and it is expected that a number of young people will attend.

Mrs. Lopez Honored At Charming Affair Given Tuesday

Honoring Mrs. Olive Lopez who yesterday returned to her home in Los Angeles after a short visit in this city, Mrs. Frank Smith entertained Tuesday with a smartly appointed luncheon given in the home of her sister, Mrs. Joe Kendall, 822 South Van Ness avenue. Baby chrysanthemums centered the table while clever silver nut-cups added their note of color.

Five hundred was the game of the afternoon, with Mrs. Kendall scoring high and Mrs. John Rudolph, low.

Those sharing Mrs. Smith's hospitality other than Mrs. Lopez, the honoree, were Mesdames Joe Kendall, Jules Markel, J. S. Groty, John Rudolph, Robert Altkin, Elizabeth Dryer, George Young, Frank Koss, William Castler and Miss Bertha Klatt.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Home Builders
As the new teacher of the Christian Home Builders' class of the First Christian church, D. H. Tibbals was honor guest recently when the group held a social in the class room of the new educational building. A short business session in charge of John J. Mills, class president, preceded the affairs of the evening.

Mr. Tibbals was presented with a lovely bouquet early in the evening, honoring his birthday anniversary. Games and contests were enjoyed, and much amusement ensued when Mr. Millen was presented with a huge package, beautifully wrapped and which finally disclosed a toy airplane. Refreshments concluded the pleasant evening.

Those present were Mesdames and Mesdames George Allison, H. J. Becker, George Blissett, Dale Elliott, E. T. Green, C. H. Lawrence, R. L. Montgomery, John J. Mills, F. A. Snipes, Merle Taylor, D. H. Tibbals, J. F. Taylor, Terpstra, and Mrs. Hazel Peck Campbell, Mrs. Dorman, Sue Parsons and Mrs. C. G. Jenkins.

Fidels Party
Members of the Fidels class of the First Baptist church enjoyed a pleasant afternoon yesterday at the home of Mrs. P. H. Peters on South Main street, with Mesdames Peters, William McMurphy, Carl Peterson and Ralph J. Haines as co-hostesses. Baskets of chrysanthemums adorned the room.

Each guest brought a white elephant and these were auctioned off by the class president, Mrs. R. L. Blanchard, the proceeds to be sent to the American Sunday School Union. Plans were made for distributing Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets and also for the annual Christmas party of the class which will be held December 18 in the home of Mrs. John Farwell. During the business session at which Mrs. Blanchard presided, a nominating committee was appointed to report at the next meeting.

Refreshments of jello with whipped cream, cake and coffee were served by the hostesses late in the afternoon. Mrs. Charles Havens presented each guest with a delicious ripe persimmon which she had brought from her orchard.

Those present other than Mesdames Peters, McMurphy, Carl Peterson and Haines, were Mesdames R. L. Blanchard, Elmer Steffensen, Theron Means, H. A. DeWolfe, A. C. Wiebe, I. O. Machander, India Sullivan, Luther E. Miller, Augusta Whitney, A. A. Klingenberg, F. F. Boese, Lillian Watson, Alva Rittner, R. Earl Elliott, C. Wallace, Belle Comford, Charles H. Announcement was made today by Mrs. E. U. Dickinson, president of the local parlor of Native Daughters of the Golden West, of the parlor's plans for a benefit Spanish dinner with entertainment features and a carnival fair, to be given Monday night, November 24, in Knights of Columbus hall, East Fourth at French street.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock, and the spicy Spanish menu promises to attract a large crowd of those who enjoy the highly seasoned foods of the Southland. A musical entertainment will follow and the carnival features will include many games, fortune telling, and booths of lovely and serviceable articles fashioned by the Native Daughters, and suitable for Christmas gifts. Local merchants have been generous with their contributions, according to Mrs. Dickinson, making it possible to set a very low price on the articles for sale.

The Daughters present one of these dinners and carnivals each year, for the purpose of raising funds for the charitable projects furthered by the Native Sons and Native Daughters. Among these are the Homeless Children's home where infants are cared for and placed for adoption in Christian homes. Since 1909 this was founded, 4000 little children have been placed in happy homes, a record of which the parlor is justly proud. The organizations also work for the preservation of the state's forests, its history and landmarks; for the Veterans' welfare, Orange county Health camp, and such local charitable work as can be afforded, so all returns from the annual Christmas bazaar, are placed in the welfare and charities fund.

Evelyn Nunn Miller To Open New Studio With Reception

Much interest has been aroused among Santa Ana friends of Evelyn Nunn Miller (Mrs. Chavon Miller) of Los Angeles, in the formal reception which will be given Tuesday afternoon and evening, November 23, in her studio at 2224 Reservoir street, Los Angeles, to celebrate the studio's opening.

Mrs. Miller's successful career has been watched with warm interest by her hundreds of friends and admirers in this city, where she was formerly connected with the high school teaching staff, and where her mother, Mrs. M. A. Nunn, still resides in the family home, 802 North Ross street.

After leaving her school duties here, Mrs. Miller, (or Miss Nunn as she was at that time) spent several years in Japan, and had the advantage of special studies under some of the most famous artists of that country.

Many of her remarkable canvases of California scenery bear the impress of her work in Japan, in the delicate charm imposed upon their underlying strength. She is rapidly coming to the fore as one of the best known young artists of the western coast, and her work is claiming the attention of art dealers and connoisseurs of the east.

Invitations have been issued by Richard Garrick, well-known stage and screen artist who has recently opened a studio in this city, to a recital to be given tomorrow night in his studio at 200 East Sixth street, with the program to begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock. Not only will Mr. Garrick present some of his drama and expression puppets in various numbers, but will also add some of his own work to the interest of the evening, and has promised a group of character sketches and readings.

Tonight Mr. Garrick will appear before the Fullerton Legion auxiliary in the Legion hall of that city, and will present dramatic readings. At the same time the one-act play, "Man to Man," featuring Harry Brackett and Edwin Belsel, will be given in the Richland Avenue M. E. church. He has directed the play, which is given under his management, and which scored such a success when presented by the famous Provincetown Players. Tomorrow afternoon he will supervise the presentation of "Man to Man" by the local players, in Huntington Beach, appearing before the high school of that city.

Wedding Anniversary Celebrated With Tamale Dinner
A lovely affair of last night was that held in the pretty home of Mr. and Mrs. Errol H. Barnes at 1114 South Birch street, when they entertained a delicious tamale dinner in observance of their fourteenth wedding anniversary. The tempting menu was served at small card tables which were centered with clusters of pink sweet peas, which flowers were also used in profusion throughout the home.

In the bridge games of the evening, the attractive prizes selected by the hostess were awarded to Mrs. Delbert Johnson and Bingham Watson, scoring high, and Mrs. Gray Snyder and Delbert Johnson, second high.

Those present were Mesdames and Mesdames Gray Snyder of Long Beach; Bingham Watson of Garden Grove, and Delbert Johnson, of Santa Ana, and the hosts.

Mesdames H. H. Patterson, John Clarkson, A. N. Gaidwan, L. C. Fairbanks, W. D. Kinsway and Helen Hell were hosts.

Adjourning to the Ranney home at 2224 North Park boulevard following the delectable dinner, guests spent a social evening. Group singing and impromptu solos were features of the enjoyable affair.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bave, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McCormack, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. John Clarkson, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ranney, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. W. The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Put Yourself in Child's Place

Have you ever seen this happen? A tiny child, a puppy or a kitten, startled and cowering when spoken to by an adult from his (to them) appalling height? And have you ever noticed what happens when the same "giant" kneels down and speaks to the small one where he is on a level with their eyes and close enough for them to see and feel the kindness he wants to express? They respond like flowers to the sun.

All my comparisons are bringing me up to the real reason for this little sermon—putting your grown-up mentality on the level at which your young son or daughter is seeing the business of growing up.

So many of us are prone to "forget that we ever played hooky, or were anything but the paragon of perfection we like to think we have grown into. Young minds are trampled by the urge and rush of youth, often discouraged and frightened, unless some one older and close to them senses it and induces them to bring the problem out and talk it over.

What if they do fall down, what if report cards are not up to par, and they shuffle and cuff and are generally a mess? It is just the growing pains we all experienced—and forgot. Be patient with them and try and understand them and still keep your own courage and patience.

"None sana in corpore sano" holds good today, just as it did centuries ago. Of what use to strive to build the physical body unless we feed and encourage the mind of a child? Look through their eyes and see their problems as colossal, at the same time bring your adult mind into play and show them how to solve the problem. Mental contentment in a child is just as important as good food and warm clothing.

TODAY'S RECIPE

French Pancakes

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 cups sifted pastry flour
2 eggs, whites beaten separately
1-2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
Mixed milk and orange juice to make thin batter.

—From "Gun Club Cook Book."
Beat the egg yolks with the sugar, add the melted butter and about one-third of the mixed milk and orange juice. Beat well and mix in part of the flour sifted with baking powder and salt. Add more liquid carefully until the flour is all beaten in and the batter is the consistency of thick cream. Add then the grated orange rind and whip in the stiffly beaten egg whites.

Bake the cakes in butter, making them as large as a dessert plate, spread with orange marmalade roll up and dust with powdered sugar. Keep warm until ready to serve, then put one on each plate and pour over it a tart hot orange sauce.

Each pancake, filled with marmalade and topped with a hot sauce, has caloric values of more than 200 per cake. Of course, most these calories are energy makers and the pleasing plump of either sex should let them severely alone. "Ain't it the truth" that the tortures of Tantalus weren't even a patch of what the modern dieter suffers!

Bread Making Made Easy, the current leaflet, will interest every woman who enjoys serving hot rolls or making an occasional batch of delicious home made bread. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for this leaflet—it is free this week.

If there is anything better than a well-made Prune Whip for dessert you tell me about it. In the meantime I'll tell you about Prune Whip in tomorrow's lesson.

ANN MEREDITH.

PARENT-TEACHERS

Roosevelt P. T. A. met Tuesday in the kindergarten room at 3 p. m. A program very appropriate at this time being of the Thanksgiving spirit, was put on by Mrs. Francis J. Cain and her pupils, the high 4th and high 5th grades.

Those giving readings were Marion Duncan, Howard Brown, Roy Butler and Lorraine Bell. A violin solo was played by Ralph Pagenkopp, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Charles Brisco. A delightful little play followed, "The Harvest."

Those taking part in the play were Doris Barge, Charles Ferrigno, Mary Jane Gross, Marguerite Rachels, Juanita Marlborough, Main Rampton, Junior Rathbun, Junior Springmire, Madeline Gilbert, Louise Kirchner, Bill Butler, Dick Horton, Ralph Pagenkopp, Vernon Blythe, James Dubois, Roy Butler, Howard Brown, Leslie Crawford and Raul Gonzales.

Teachers of Lowell school were given a whole-hearted reception Tuesday night when members of the P. T. A. were hostesses in the kindergarten room of the school. Mrs. A. H. Meyers, president of the organization, was in charge of the affair. Teachers were introduced, and presented with lovely French bouquets.

Neal Gammell, a student, led in the flag salute, while Miss Helen Meyers followed with prayer. Violin and piano duets were given by Miss Meyers and Miss Lucille Griggs. Especially delightful were the numbers given by the glee clubs of the fifth and sixth grades, which included Spanish and Italian folk songs.

Harmonica solos were given by Ralph Gibbs, and Miss Lucille Griggs was presented again, rendering a violin solo accompanied at the piano by her mother, Mrs. Dale Griggs. Pupils of Estelle Card Bee-man gave readings, and included one by Miss Myrtle Gerrard. Adding variety to the program, Miss Phyllis Luther, accompanied by Miss Frances McIntire gave piano-logues. "The Box of Pandora," an interesting playlet, was given by a group of students preceded by a vocal solo by Miss Myrtle Gerrard.

Miss Helen Meyers played a piano number as the concluding feature of the program which was in charge of Mrs. E. F. Mathews. Mrs. R. R. Russick led in games which were enjoyed previous to the refreshment hour. The refreshment committee included Mesdames O. C. Hillhouse, C. B. Stockton, O. A. Brohaugh, R. E. Jewel, Dale Griggs and C. D. Coffman.

HOW LOVING

COLUMBUS, Ohio.—Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Neal might have loved each other years ago, but it looks as if that's all off now. Mrs. Neal told police recently that her husband had pawned her prized shotgun. In retaliation, she cuts all the tires of his automobile. An argument started in which there was a great deal of glassware tossed about. Both were taken to a hospital for attention.

SPECIAL SHOW GIVEN MOUSERS HERE SATURDAY

Special show for the kiddies of the Santa Ana Mickey Mouse club, in celebration of Thanksgiving, and because the children, some 1300 of them, are to aid in feeding the poor on Thanksgiving Day, is announced today by Norman Sprowl, Fox theater manager here.

The show will be the meeting of the Mickey Mouse club set for Saturday, starting at 1 o'clock. At this time, all children are asked to bring some kind of staple grocery to the theater for the poor of the city. These groceries will be turned over to the Santa Ana Salvation Army for distribution.

Candy for all children who attend the Thanksgiving show on Saturday will be donated by the Kether cafe of Santa Ana and every child who attends will be given candy.

For entertainment, the children will hear the Holder band which they enjoyed last week, and Mystic Clayton, who is appearing in the regular vaudeville at the theater this week-end is slated to make an appearance before them with a number of magic tricks that not only will astound but is sure to please them.

The feature picture of the day will be Douglas Fairbanks in "The Iron Mask."

William Haines, who comes to the Fox Broadway theater for three days starting Friday in his latest all-talking picture, "Remote Control," a comedy mixed with mystery that makes it doubly entertaining. It is the first time he has been seen here in several months.

'FEET FIRST' LLOYD'S BEST FILM EFFORT

Harold Lloyd has accomplished what he set out to do in "Feet First," his laugh-a-minute, thrill-a-second comedy at the Fox Broadway theater, he has surpassed the thrills of "Safety Last," the all-time criterion for hair-raising moving pictures. This time Lloyd has done it in talking pictures. He has made an all-dialog film that's action from start to finish with no time out for conversation.

"Feet First" is a joyous romance filled with convulsing Lloyd gags, according to West Coast critics who have viewed first rushes of the picture. Lloyd, as an ambitious but blundering shoe clerk, falls in love with Barbara Kent, social secretary to his wealthy employer's wife, and, mistaking her for a fashionable heiress, he turns himself inside out to reach a social plane which will permit him to make love to her.

His ambitious social climb carries him to the top of an unfinished skyscraper, projects him from a sky-lobby window, makes him a stow-away on an ocean-going liner, and, generally, provides him with enough dare-devil comedy situations to keep young and old laughing continuously during the progress of the story.

'RENEGADES' FILM ENJOYED HERE

Santa Anans who do not see "Renegades," Warner Baxter's latest all-talking picture, now showing at the Fox West Coast theater, will miss one of the best pictures of its kind that has been shown here this year.

There have been a number of "best" pictures. Many are heralded as the "best picture ever made," and many of these have turned out to be mediocre, but such is not the case of "Renegades."

A picture much on the order of "Beau Geste" its connection with the French Foreign Legion and its colorful drama throughout holds the interest from the very start, while the plot of the show, strong and interesting, makes "Renegades" one of the outstanding pictures of the year.

It is the story of four men, driven to the Legion in order to forget their experiences and their deaths, but more particularly their lives and the life of Warner Baxter, who after he enters the Legion again meets the girl who has driven him there. How he meets her and what he does with her, and she with him, make a plot that long will be remembered. The picture shows there through Friday night only.

BASEBALL PLAYERS IN WALKER PICTURE

More baseball stars than ever were gathered together for a World Series, veterans of yesterday and youngsters whose names are making sporting records today, comprised the teams that played the baseball games in "They Learned About Women," Van and Schenck's first Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature film, which is playing today at Walker's State.

Bessie Love plays opposite Van and Schenck in their motion picture debut and the supporting cast includes Mary Doran, Benny Rubin, Francis X. Bushman Jr., Tommy Dugan, Eddie Gribbon and J. C. Nugent.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN — PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

The apples that the Tinies had were perfect. Not a one was bad. Said Scouty, "Gee, I wonder where the man picked all of these. They must be taken care of well because they taste and look so swell. Let's go and find the orchard and climb up one of the trees."

"Say, you can pick a lot for me," replied the Apple Man. "You'll see my orchard not far down the road. Go on and have some fun. The picking won't be hard at all. Be careful though, that you don't fall." Then toward the apple orchard all the bunch went, on the run.

They found one tree that towered high, and Clowny shouted loudly, "I will be the first to pick a few." Right up the tree he went. Soon apples started falling round as Clowny shook them out of the ground. At this real fun about a half hour was gaily spent.

The others also climbed the tree and picked away contentedly. Then Scouty scampered down again and

SCIENTIFIC TECHNIQUE

Several weeks ago we noted the Nobel award for literature for 1930 which went to Sinclair Lewis, particularly for his book "Babbalanza." Two other Nobel prizes were awarded recently, the prize for physics and the prize for outstanding work in chemistry. Sir Chanrasekhara Benkata Raman, Professor of Physics, at Calcutta University, received the prize for his work in physics. He is the discoverer of the Raman Effect, which deals with the scattering of light through transparent media of all kinds. His discoveries throw much light on fundamental problems in physics such as the constitution and structure of molecules, their number, arrangement and thermal movements in gaseous, liquid and solid media, and also on the nature of radiation itself.

Sir Chanrasekhara is a young man, forty-two years old. He was educated at the Presidency College at Madras. In 1912 he won the Curzon Research Prize and in the year 1913 he was the Woodburn Research Medalist. In 1928 Sir Chanrasekhara was president of the Indian Science Congress. It brings this renowned scientist a bit closer to note that in 1924 he was research associate at the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena.

To Professor Hans Fischer, of Munich, was awarded the prize for outstanding and valuable work in chemistry. Professor Fischer was born at Hochst-am-Main in 1881. He attained scientific prominence at the end of 1929 when he succeeded in the artificial production of the hemoglobin, which is the coloring matter of the blood. Professor Fischer's synthetic blood pigment is known as hematin.

Those of us who are not scientists, cannot fully appreciate the value of the service these two men have rendered. Practical application is the one thing appreciated and when the practical application is a bit involved or remote, as it frequently is in scientific research, we cannot, of course, measure the value as we could if it were manifest. There is one distinguishing quality of these two men, however, which everyone can value and emulate, and that is "the technique of open-mindedness." That is the way Dr. Albert Edward Wiggam phrases it in his new book, "The Marks of An Educated Man." He says:

"In the process of getting at a man's beliefs you must be quickly enlightened as to whether he has arrived at them by that particular kind of open-mindedness known as science or by rule of thumb. If he possesses the open-mindedness of science you will find that he always seeks to correct and revise his own opinions, and to find rational and logical explanations of phenomena."

Any of us can appreciate the fact that these two men, winners of the Nobel prize in science have this quality of "open-mindedness."

"I confess," said the Prince of Wales, "that to make a speech worries me as much as trying to play good golf." But it makes a difference whether you get the birdie at one or the other.

THE DOG IN THE MANGER

The cartoonist in The Register the other night well represented the liquor situation in this country. The picture consisted of a horse at the manger endeavoring to eat the hay, consisting of "prohibition benefits" and "prohibition effectiveness," and in the manger preventing the horse from eating the hay was a bulldog labeled "racketeering, bootlegging, etc." Uncle Sam is looking at the dog and horse with a countenance of puzzled doubt.

This was one of the clearest illustrations we have seen of the actual situation in picture form. There is only one thing to do. It is to remove the dog from the manger and let the horse eat the hay.

It presents the matter so clearly that one is reminded of a statement of a noted Englishman. After visiting America, he returned and told his countrymen that his observations caused him to come to the conclusion that when the American people were confronted with a perfectly plain duty, which they did not want to perform, they looked at it and called it a "problem." Very largely that is the situation in respect to the enforcement of our liquor law. It is a perfectly plain duty which everyone knows should be performed, but officials halt before it, and with the great mass of people behind them looking at them, and declaring it to be a "problem." The problem rather consists of our refusal to do our duty.

"Take a tip from me," as the Emperor of Abyssinia probably said when he gave away dimes at his coronation.

TRADE AT HOME

A group of Santa Ana women were heard discussing the business of shopping in Santa Ana yesterday. The subject had been brought up when the "buy in Santa Ana" campaign, sponsored by the Lions club, had been noted by one of them. These women agreed that particularly for Christmas shopping Santa Ana is the best place in which to purchase. The enormous crowds and jam in the city are depressing to the Christmas spirit. Then, too, by shopping in Santa Ana one avoids mental confusion. And one can do the Christmas shopping here in little dabs instead of devoting one or two days of long trying hours which are horrors in anticipation and in memory to the business of Christmas. Also there is the added pleasure of meeting friends now and then as one shops, and chatting a bit and keeping the spirit of joy and fun in Christmas, instead of taking it out, which is absolutely the wrong thing to do.

LAUNCH NEW PLAN AT CHICAGO

The University of Chicago is about to launch a new proposition in the educational world. It proposes, in addition to having the regular curriculum on which people can spend four years, to also provide that if a man can pass an examination of sufficient comprehensive character as to prove that he is qualified, that he will be issued a diploma, whether he has spent two months, a year, or four years, at the institution.

We believe this will appeal very strongly to educators. It certainly would appeal to vast numbers of the average citizens. The present conditions have often been the subject of discussion. There are certain required studies, a certain number of hours of classroom work, and if those hours are put in and that classroom work is done, certain grades are obtained, and so by a matter of computation with the adding machine and by a series of tests, a determination is had as to the educational qualifications requisite to the issuance of a diploma. And the rules of the institutions like the laws of the Medes and Persians know no change, and prevent one who has put a part of such time in the institution and then a vast amount of other time in study and intellectual pursuits from receiving a diploma because the hours were not put in. The University of Chicago will give the opportunity by this plan to the one who is willing to work harder or who is particularly talented or brilliant, to rapidly finish his work in that particular line, and on the other hand, those who desire the social life of the college for four years can have it just as at present.

The educators everywhere are devoting themselves to the problem of adapting the educational institutions to the needs of the hour, and hence changes are being effected. There is no question but what those who are making a life's work of education are impressed with the importance of the need of adapting the education to the requirements of the time, and we are glad to note that locally, as well as in Chicago, new plans and new ways are being adapted to the new age.

ON PAYING TRIBUTE

If the news dispatch from Fresno is correct, the grape men of California have contributed to the racketeers of the east, $4,500,000 for the permission to carry on their business in eastern markets. This is protection money for truckmen, and it amounts to 25 cents a package for each one of the 18,000,000 packages of grapes sold. A check-up is being made on these figures to determine whether these things can be true.

The country was shocked when the secretary of the Business Men's Association of Chicago, something over a year ago announced that the legitimate business interests of that city were contributing nearly $200,000,000 to the racketeers for the privilege of carrying on their business, and, of course, we imagined that the racketeering was confined to the city itself. But very evidently it is far reaching, and business enterprises all over the nation must pay tribute to these racketeers.

What is becoming of our government? It is a far cry from the position which business is occupying under such conditions to the brave statement of Charles C. Pinckney in 1796, when he declared to the head of the government of Tripoli on demand of tribute for the protection of American merchantmen, that America would have: "millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute."

Proud of Him

Of interest to millions of Americans, golfers and non-golfers, is the retirement of Robert Tyre Jones, Jr., king of the game, from competitive golf. With a gesture as dramatic as any match he ever won, the popular Atlanta yesterday announced that hereafter he will not appear in amateur competition, and will immediately start on the production of a number of motion pictures designed to stimulate interest in golf and to help the play of those who are participants in the game.

Jones' sportsmanship, never even shadowed during all his years of competition, comes to the fore in his statement announcing his withdrawal as an amateur.

Declaring that he is not certain that his action in signing up for motion pictures is a violation of the amateur rules, he admits that there is plenty of room for argument on this point, and wishing to avoid it, has decided to withdraw from amateur competition.

He also remarked that he has played as an amateur, not because he considered honest professional golf as dishonorable, but because he has had other ambitions in life, and by playing as an amateur there could be no question of subterfuge or concealment.

With a miniature war ringer around our ears just now over coast college football, it seems a pity that those connected with the gridiron sport cannot be as sportsmanlike, as honest and as clean cut about amateurism as Bobby Jones is.

He has held the respect of all through his years of competition and he leaves the amateur game an American and sportsman of whom the country may well be proud.

Walked Out On Them

San Francisco Chronicle
Richard Washburn Child walked into the Boston session of the Institute of Current International Problems, fired one angry question and walked out again. He was disgusted with a body of learned men who did not agree with him in his opinion of the World Court and who, evidently, had not read his articles on the subject.

Child had thirty-five minutes in which he could have delivered a speech. Instead he banged the table and took but three seconds of his time. In that he established a precedent in an Institute which is accustomed to spending several days in an atmosphere of sustained oratory.

What Mr. Child proved with his disgust will be variously interpreted. He is a main literary light in the argument against the court and has had the experience of having his same speech published three days in succession and under different headlines. Certainly, he may be right in everything he says. It may even be refreshing to see one who is not afraid to be saucy to an Institute of serious thinkers. But refusal to take part in debate never won any arguments.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

WHY SHOULD THE SPIRIT OF MORTAL BE PROUD?

A student of the bee maintains
That when, in meadows sunny,
It lights on clover which contains
Material for honey,
It radios the old home hive,
Wakes workers from their slumber,
And presently its pals arrive
The field to disencumber
Of all its dripping sweetness it has stored,
Which presently is added to their hoard.

A lone mosquito on its way
To ravage and devour,
Will see and mark you for its prey,
And in a half an hour
A thousand of its greedy crowd,
Their war-song loudly swelling,
Will hover like an evil cloud
In your defenseless dwelling—
The skeet that first the song of battle sang
Has radiated about you to his gang!

Man fills himself with lofty pride,
The while he glibly mentions
How widely he has multiplied
His manifold inventions,
Small brain the bug has in his pate,
But what he has suffices,
You notice, to anticipate
Man's long thought out devices.
The members of the buzzing insect host
Must nudge each other when they hear us boast.

A Wild Orgy of Saving

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and
WADDILL CATCHINGS

Many men ascribe this business depression to "the wild orgy of spending" during the years, 1927-1929. Yesterday we pointed out that there was no such orgy. The people of the United States, as a whole, did not use up even as much as they produced. Far from indulging in a wild orgy of spending, consumers did not spend enough money to prevent over-production.

Even so, it is said, SOME individuals have been living beyond their means. Already they have spent part of the wages which they hope to receive next year. If these improvident buyers respond to all the appeals to "Buy Now," they may help business immediately, but in the end they will not hurt business. It does no good to business in general for consumers to go hopelessly into debt.

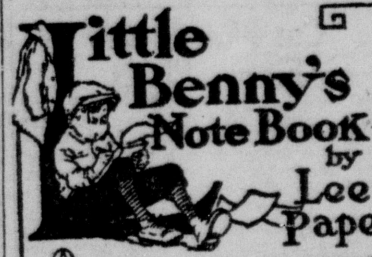

All that is true. But we cannot cure such evils by urging EVERYBODY to save more and buy less. Nor can we save the spendthrift from his folly, by reducing the standard of living of the country as a whole. Indeed, the probable immediate effect of such a reduction would be an INCREASE in the number of families living beyond their means.

In an event, it is stupid to penalize an entire nation because some of its citizens are extravagant. If easy payment plans have been too easy for some consumers, let us consider what, if anything, should be done about that. If certain individuals will not on their own volition, save enough to protect themselves and their families against illness, old age and unemployment, let us accomplish the desired end by social control.

But let us not try to change the habits of the improvident by reducing the standard of living of the provident.

Even if thousands of individuals have indulged in "a wild orgy of spending," that is not reason why millions should be frightened into a wild orgy of saving.

Me and my cuzen Artie was sitting on my front steps talking about different subjects such as who had the most nerve, him or me, Artie saying, Well I'll tell you how much nerve I've got, if I saw a runaway horse coming down the street this very second I'd have the nerve to jump out in front to it and wave my arms and yell, and if the horse wasnt surprised enough to stop I'd jump up and grab him around the neck and shake him till he had to stop, thats how much nerve I've got.

Sounding like a lot, and I sed, Well if you want to hear something about nerve I'll tell you how much I've got. If I saw a guy holding up another guy with a revolver I'd have the nerve to run up behind him and hit him on the rist with a stick and make him drop his revolver, and it would go off by itself and a cop would come running up and chase him. Thats how much nerve I've got, I sed.

Sounding like even more, and just then Artie sed, G, look whose coming. Meaning Flatfoot the cop coming up the street, me thinking, G, I wonder if he remembers?

Meaning for chasing me and Artie for batting a hard ball in the street the day before yesterday, Artie saying, G, I bet he does, gosh look at his expression.

Being farse, and by that time Flatfoot was only about 4 payments away, me saying, well I don't care whether he remembers or not, Im going in. I was going in anyway.

Which I was but not rite then, and Artie sed, Well I'll go in with you to keep you company.

And we quick went in the house. Proving we mite not even of stopped a runaway horse or hit a robber on the rist with a stick.

In the Long Ago

From The Register Files
14 Years Ago Today

"Thanksgiving, Its Origin and Customs" was the interesting subject of a recent meeting of the Third section of the Household Economics of the Ebell held in the home of Mrs. F. L. Andrews on East Fourth street.

Mrs. J. P. Baumgartner yesterday was hostess to members of the First Ebell "Travelers" class, entertaining with a delightful luncheon.

S. H. Finley and William Schumacher yesterday took their oaths of office as supervisors of the first district, and will be sworn in the first Monday in January.

With the appointment of a committee consisting of City Trustees George McPhee and O. H. Maryatt last night, a definite step toward the establishment of a public market in Santa Ana was taken.

That Santa Ana can offer no inducement worth while to a manufacturing concern until it can show that concern that Santa Ana's in and out freight rates are right was one of a number of plain statements made today at the Merchants and Manufacturers' meeting.

An auction bridge luncheon was thoroughly enjoyed yesterday by about twenty-five friends of Mrs. L. A. Collier and Mrs. C. S. Kendall in the latter's home on Cypress avenue.

Thoughts On Modern Life

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

I believe that it is within the power of the captains of American industry to solve, without governmental interference, the problem of unemployment.

I believe that it is to the selfish interest of the captains of American industry to solve the problem of unemployment; that is to say, I think that unemployment strikes as serious a blow at American industry as it does at the American worker who is out of work.

Paul H. Douglas, from whom I quoted yesterday, doubts that the captains of American industry will solve the problem of unemployment by the kind of regularization of production I have been discussing during the last two days, and here are the reasons that underlie his doubts:

(1) He suspects that a large percentage of employers will continue either unable or unwilling to see the imperative necessity of solving the problem of unemployment. He doffs his hat to such men as Owen D. Young and Morris Leeds for the superior combination of business intelligence and social imagination they have brought to the problem of regularizing production and employment, but he fears that such men are the exceptional geniuses of the business world as a Michelson or a Millikan are exceptional geniuses in the world of science.

(2) He suspects that the various programs for regularizing production and employment, that have proved so successful in manufacturing plants dealing with standardized or virtually monopolized products, will find harder sledding in manufacturing plants dealing with commodities that are subject to extreme style and weather influences and that are produced under stiffly competitive conditions.

(3) He suspects that the better the management, from the point of view of productive efficiency, the more management will create technological unemployment in its quest of lower and lower production costs.

(4) He suspects that we are doomed for some decades to come to business cycles of alternate prosperity and depression. In short, Mr. Douglas thinks a considerable amount of unemployment will continue to prove inevitable and that "the only sensible way of meeting this loss is to do what we do in the case of fire, namely, to insure against it." This raises the next question of unemployment insurance which is destined to come more and more into the field of politics, a question of which I want to give detailed attention some time in the near future.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

HOMEWORK

Should a child have homework? How much? What kind?

It all depends upon the child and his school. Children below the fourth grade, should not, if their school day has been well used, need any homework. They need rest from school, a chance to free their bodies of the cramping influence of the benches and the seat work.

From the fourth year on homework becomes a matter for careful study on the part of the school authorities. Some children do enough work on the usual school day prescribed by the school while they are in the building. They are usually bright children who could profit by taking extra work outside school—music, art, hand work, whatever hobby is dearest.

Some children need a little extra touch on the day's work. They have the point but a little dwelling on it will fasten it so that it will remain at call. These are the good students who require a little bit more time than can be afforded them in the usual school.

The dull pupil rarely benefits by home work. His mind is already fatigued by application to study in school hours. It is not attention or application that he lacks but ability and all the home study one could assign would never supply that. What the dull child needs is another mode of approach, not drill.

Now home has become, in many places, a poor place for home study. This is especially true in cities where room is scarce and noise is perpetual. Yet school boys and girls, particularly as they grow older, and mount to the upper grades and into high school and college, need a quiet place and a studious atmosphere if they are to do any worth while work. School, in such places, must become the study place.

We can teach a child certain facts that are useful tools. After that the child must turn to and recreate these facts by adding something from within himself to them. This means meditation, concentrated effort, personal application. No teacher, no school, can do this for him. It is a phase and a highly important phase of his mental, spiritual, material growth.

We must give the children the tools of learning. We must furnish them with the means of making good use of them. We must teach them how to search with these tools, how to discover new truth, how to apply old truth. Homework aims at the beginnings of this process. It gradually gathers power and point and purpose as the pupil becomes a student in the upper schools. From the familiar lesson review at home to the laboratory search for new facts seems a long step but they are steps on the same road.

Because the purpose of homework is creative work we must consider well what we are doing in making home assignments. They must lead the child to wish to study, then to broaden his study, then to put it to his own purpose. Remember that the children of men have a prolonged infancy and do not try to curtail it by forcing the end into the beginning. Go slowly, thoughtfully, wisely at this matter of homework.

LAGERLOF'S BIRTH

On November 20, 1858, Selma Lagerlof, eminent Swedish writer, was born at Vermland, Sweden, the daughter of a Swedish army officer.

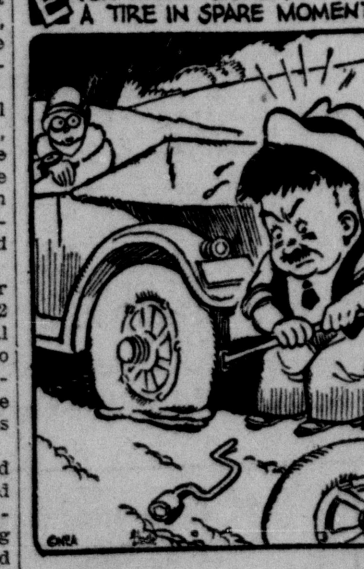

While teaching at a high school for girls, she wrote her first book, "Gosta Berling." Coming at a time when Sweden was weary of the pessimistic realism which had been the vogue, this book was "a refreshing breath of romance" and brought the author quick success.

She wrote several books on her travels through Europe and in 1902 was commissioned by the National Teachers Association of Sweden to write a school textbook of the geographical peculiarities, and of the flora and fauna of the various provinces of the country.

In 1909 the author was awarded the Nobel prize for literature and five years later was elected a member of the Swedish academy, being the first woman to have received this honor. Her books have been translated into many languages.
